Canton board votes 5-2 to establish auxiliary police force in township

By DARLENE STINSON

Canton's own auxiliary police officers may soon patrol the township in search of local ordinance violators and add a dash of security to residents' lives.

Members of the Canton Board of Trustees Tuesday voted 5-2 to join the Southeast Michigan Police Reserve Training Council and empower Supervisor Robert Greenstein to establish a recruitment program, under which 20 persons will be selected for the reserve training.

Citing inadequate knowledge of recruitment procedures and reserve officer qualifications, trustees Brian Schwall and James Poole cast the dissenting votes.

UNDER THE training program, located in Redford Township, persons selected for the job will attend 30 3½-hour classes, scheduled once a week beginning Jan. 8.

Persons will emerge from the program as a fully trained and certified reserve officer, qualified to patrol Canton's streets.

Cost of joining the Police Reserve Training Council is set at $25. The township will pay an additional fee of $30 for each reserve officer candidate to attend the 30-week training session.

After completing the training program, reserve officers will receive the township board's authorization to enforce local ordinances and ticket violators. The township will supply uniforms and available automobiles from the building department, which are already equipped with radios.

Like many other reserve officers in surrounding communities, members of Canton's auxiliary police force will "probably" receive some rate of pay, according to Greenstein, who envisions a pay rate of about $2.50 an hour.

Upon advice of the Police Reserve Training Council, the township's administration will select one of the reserve officers to supervise the rest.

"After 30 weeks, Canton will have a fully trained reserve police force," said Greenstein. "If we send 20 people to the classes, we could have 10 cars on the road. We would be taking steps in the right direction toward establishing a full time force."

Greenstein said the cost of establishing a fulltime police department—estimated at a minimum $40,000—is "prohibitive." A full time force, he added, could interfere with the township's appeal of the Wayne County Sheriff's road patrol law suit.

Sheriff deputies now provide a major form of police protection in Canton and many other Wayne County townships. Those townships are appealing a Wayne County Circuit Court decision, denying the county's obligation to fund the road patrol. The Wayne County Board of Commissioners has threatened to cut off road patrol funding.

"I think this is a stopgap method of security, while the county holds the black jack over our heads," township Treasurer Carl Parsell said of the auxiliary force.

"I would hope the officers add help and assistance and a feeling of security to the community. In every community, the fear of crime is almost worse than the crime itself."

Schwall and Poole favored tabling the matter until the board's next meeting on Nov. 11 to enable board members to study reserve officer qualifications and recruitment procedures, outlined in ordinances of some local communities.

Greenstein noted the urgency of entering the program, often filled months before classes begin, and the recruitment procedure in Redford Township, conducted by the supervisor.

Greenstrein promised to survey the screening process used in nearby communities and enlist the aid of Parsell in establishing the recruitment procedure. Parsell is executive director of the Michigan Police Officers Association.

Reiterating an earlier statement concerning the "lack of trust" on the board, Trustee Gerald Cheske objected to the tabling recommendation.

"I would like to see this implemented as soon as possible," Cheske said. "I think we can leave recruitment up to the discretion of the supervisor.

"I think too often we sit up here and procrastinate. In November, the county could cut off the sheriff's patrol. I don't think we have to wait on this."

Said Greenstein: "We've heard Cheske read the agenda and call five or six jurisdictions on other items, so he can talk sensibly about a topic.

"Instead of obstructing topics and being negative continually, Schwall could call other jurisdictions, if he wanted to be constructive. If Schwall or other board members don't want to do their homework, we can't stop the progress of this township."

Board members approved Cheske's motion to enter the program and empower Greenstein to establish a recruitment procedure by a 5-2 vote.

Greenstein urges interested Canton residents between the ages of 21 and 40 to submit applications for the auxiliary officer positions at township hall, 44508 Geddes.

Tricks come too early for pumpkin dealer

Plymouth resident Ginger Scott will be glad when Halloween is over.

The sight of smashed orange pumpkins and gooey, white seeds has greeted the 48-year-old resident of 710 N. Mill every morning for the past three weeks.

Apparently the work of teenage pranksters, the smashed pumpkins represent the loss of desperately needed cash for Mrs. Scott and her two sons, who need the pumpkin money to pay off this month's rent.

"I thought I had a chance to sell pumpkins and put some milk and bread on the table," confided Mrs. Scott, as she sat in the bright October sun awaiting the arrival of customers.

"When I lose a pumpkin, I don't just lose what I paid for it. I lose what I could have got."

DESCRIBING herself as an odds-and-ends salesperson who does what she can to make ends meet, Mrs. Scott manages to support herself and two sons, despite a severe allergy problem which cancels her ability to hold a paying job.

Licensed to care for elderly persons, Mrs. Scott cooks and sews for a 73-year-old man and conducts odds-and-ends sales in her frontyard at Liberty and Mill. Income from her teenage son's job helps cover expenses.

But Mrs. Scott, who admits she could qualify for government assistance, wants no part of welfare.

"I want to take care of myself. My kids may go to school with a patched shirt on; but at least I bought it myself. If the only thing I leave them is the making of an honest day's work, then I've left them a treasure."

Mrs. Scott cannot understand the motives of pumpkin-smashing kids, many of whom, she says, are nearing their 20s.

"Why do these kids do it? Are their kicks as small as that? I just want to be left alone and sell my pumpkins."

TEENAGERS smashed $200 worth of pumpkins as of Monday afternoon.

Police promised her a nightly patrol around the pumpkin crop until Halloween is over. Mrs. Scott Monday pledged a nightly vigilance in front of her home to guard the pumpkins and potential cash.

"As bad as I need this money, I'd give them to someone who was hungry. But just to pick up my pumpkins and smash them—I just can't believe it.

"I love this little town, and I want to stay here," said Mrs. Scott, who has lived in Plymouth for three years. "But, geez, is everyone so wealthy they have no concern for their neighbor?

"I try to support myself. I don't want to go on welfare. I could support myself if people would only keep their kids home."

Contracts for subs is battled by board

By EMORY DANIELS

A difficult decision was made by the Plymouth Board of Education Monday night when it voted 4-3 to begin offering permanent contracts to 10 persons who started teaching this fall as permanent substitutes.

The 10 were "hired" as permanent substitutes because the district earlier in year was unsure what its student count would be and, therefore, unsure about how many teachers must be hired to maintain student-teacher ratios.

The $102,000 cost of offering contracts to the 10 had been included in the budget adopted Monday night. The motion to offer contracts was passed before the vote taken to adopt the budget.

If the vote had been against offering contracts to the 10, the budget might have been adopted with a fund balance of $185,500.

THE CRUX of the arguments was that the district is facing another cutback in state aid and would have to further reduce the operating budget.

Those against offering contracts argued it was wrong to offer contracts one week and lay off persons a couple weeks later. Voting against offering constracts to the 10 permanent subs were trustees Gary Mirto, Joseph Gray and George Lawton.

MARCIA BOROWSKI made the motion to authorize Norman Kee, assistant superintendent for personnel, to begin offering contracts to the 10 permanent substitutes and to come back to the board for approval of each individual hire.

"This is one area we looked at in budget sessions for reduction," complained Gray. "We discussed starting a study on use of librarians and reading teachers and looking for a different type of program.

"We might have more cuts to make yet. I'd like to see the study started because our big budget numbers are in people."

Lawton reminded the board that the district is facing a state aid cut of at least another $60,000 and most likely more. "Until I see the dollar figures we are going to lose, I'm not prepared to vote on this type of commitment."

"I agree we are facing more cuts and it's scary," countered Borowski. "But, at the same time, there are two groups of people we must be fair to and honest with, and they are the students and teachers.

"There are students in the classrooms being taught by permanent substitutes who have a right to a permanent teacher. And we must be fair to these teachers who are working on a day-to-day basis who we do indeed want to show up for work tomorrow.

"If we must lay off in the future, we are still allowed to do this. But right now we don't have any ridiculuous low figures for class size—these 10 teachers are needed to maintain class ratios."

DR. E.J. McCLENDON, trustee, pointed out that the budget did include the money to offer contracts to the ten permanent subs.

"These are difficult days. But there is no effective way we can maintain teacher morale and still ask these teachers to continue working on a day-to-day basis.

"It is teachers and the classroom that is the first ingredient of carrying on a school program."

Mirto argued that the morale of other teachers wasn't at stake but only the morale of the 10 permanent subs. "If we don't offer contracts now they will continue teaching, because of the job market, and will expect full positions when the board decides it can add to staff."

Yack said he agreed with Borowski that the only rationale for offering the contracts was for the welfare of students and staff.

Supt. John M. Hoben said the budget did include contracts for the 10 but that layoffs may be in the district's future.

The administration has been asked by the board to find another $246,000 (two per cent) in the budget which can be trimmed with the impending loss in state aid facing the district, Hoben added. "This additional cut might require some type of staff cuts."

"The governor's decision on state aid reduction will be out in a couple of weeks," commented Gray, "I don't think it will create that much damage if we wait until we get the information on cuts in state aid. One or two weeks delay on this won't destroy the children."

IN RESPONSE to a question, Kee said if the 10 were dismissed the students they are now teaching would have to be absorbed into other classrooms.

"That's where the problem lies," said Yack.

"If this is the case," countered Mirto, "then we can never lay off because reduction in teachers will always disrupt classrooms. I'm concerned about us offering contracts and two weeks later taking them away."

Lawton remarked: "There's only one unhappy way to balance a budget and that's not to spend money. If we offer contracts to 10 additional teachers, in the desperate situation we are in, then the responsibility rests directly on the board on whether we have a balnced budget at the end of the year."

"I don't every want to decide not to spend money by holding somebody by their toenails above an alligator pit," Borowski answered. "If we ask teachers to teach full-time, which these 10 are doing, then we should pay them full-time or get them out and see how we would absorb their students."

Kee said the subs are getting paid $28 a day and the permanent subs are getting $40 a day, which is still below pay for regular teachers.

It would be extremely disruptive in mid-term or mid-year, Kee added, to eliminate the 10 teachers and make adjustments. "We must look at different ways of staffing, but it would be extremely disruptive to make these types of moves now."

Marda Benson, board president, pointed out the resolution was only to authorize Kee to offer contracts. The ten wouldn't receive contracts this week, she added, but would be recommend for hiring as individuals to the board.

Lawton said he realized educational practices and philosophy were involved in the debate. "But you are also talking about $100,000 which, if spent, could completely deplete our fund equity and put us in the red."

Special hearing set on Moceri project

The Canton Board of Trustees has scheduled a special meeting Monday, Nov. 3, to discuss the verbiage of a proposed consent judgment between the township and developer Dominic Moceri.

Township officials will discuss the proposed agreement with Windsor Park Subdivision and other interested residents at the township firehall, 128 Canton Center Road at Cherry Hill, beginning at 7 p.m. Township officials and persons representing Moceri and developer Robert Lewiston will meet at 8 p.m.

Township Supervisor Robert Greenstein said the proposed written agreement is "substantially the same" as a proposal presented to residents in August.

"I spent the last two days going over this in length," he said. "There are some areas of verbiage that need discussion, but I don't think they'll act as an impediment to the agreement."

Under terms of the consent judgment, the agreement will follow the land at Joy and Sheldon forever, unless amended by the township board and the court.

Main points of the proposed agreement include:

•Sale of the land to Lewiston of Practical Home Builders who will develop the site.

•Elimination of a proposed regional shopping center at the corner of Sheldon and Joy. No multiple family dwellings, high-rise buildings or duplexes as originally proposed.

•Larger lots and less density on the portion of the land earmarked for single-family use.

The proposed out-of-court agreement is an alternative to a long court battle with Moceri, who filed lawsuit last year over the township board's refusal to rezone 65 acres from single-family residential to planned shopping. Moceri planned construction of a regional shopping center on the site.

ALCOHOLISM

Priest wants local site to help others with his problem

By TIM RICHARD

Younger alcoholics. Alcohol and drugs. More women alcoholics.

The job is getting bigger and more complicated for the few agencies working on this personal, family and social problem, says the Rev. Vaughan Quinn, who is eying a site in western Wayne County to expand his work.

Father Quinn is 42, but his body is a dozen years older—and looks it—because of his own bout with alcohol. "I haven't had a drink in 10 years and three or four months," he grinned, his face wrinkling like actor Burgess Meredith's.

QUINN WILL SPEAK to the Plymouth Civitan Club at 6:45 p.m., Nov. 13 in the Mayflower Hotel. The meeting is open to all concerned persons. Dinner is $4.50 but there is no charge for those who attend only for Quinn's talk.

Quinn is author of a proposal to expand the work of his Sacred Heart Rehabilitation Center, 569 E. Elizabeth in Detroit, to the former site of the Wayne County Child Development Center on Sheldon north of Five Mile Road in Northville Township.

Despite heavy opposition, Quinn's proposal may be accepted by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Not only are his wit and frankness charming, not only is he an old-fashioned character with his three St. Bernard dogs and four antique fire engines, but he is, in the words of one legislator, a "heavyweight" as an administrator.

Northville folks are unhappy with his plan (and others) because of neighborhood problems with state mental hospital walkaways, their lack of tax base and a brooding feeling that "Detroit" has used Northville and Plymouth as a dumping ground for such unpopular institutions as a prison, a state mental hospital, a home for the retarded, a center for teen drug addicts and a TB sanatarium that's now a state park.

Schoolcraft College, with Wayne State University, would like to operate a joint program there, and is fighting for priority with the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Despite it all, the betting odds are that Quinn will get it, although the priest himself wonders aloud why everyone thinks he has it locked up.

"THE AGE OF alcoholics is dropping," he said. "Eight years ago the average age was 46. Now it's 32."

The age drop is more shocking than it sounds at first. "The older ones had a value system. They had a job and a family, and they know what it is to speed and get a ticket.

"Now the young one—28, 25, down to 17— he may have been messed up since he was 14.

"He's never been to a dance or a movie. He's never been on a date or held a job—he's never done anything."

As Quinn sees it, the Sacred Heart program would be expanded to a second phase to cover socialization and job training. The Northville site figures into that plan. He simply doesn't have room in the Detroit building.

Contrary to some reports, Quinn's program is not aimed at drug addicts but at persons who are primarily alcoholic, drugs being a complicating factor.

Women alcoholics are becoming more numerous—possibly because women today are less afraid to drink, possibly because they are less ashamed to admit it and seek help.

Quinn explains that a state law scheduled to take effect the first of 1977 will decriminalize alcohol-"the drunk tank and ragpicker squad will be things of the past." He visualizes a local program to take care of that part of the problem.

Members of Bessie Jones and the Georgia Sea Island Singers this week showed students at Farrand and Allen elementary schools the games that slave children used to play.

Folk music echos through schools

The syncopated rhythms of old Negro spirituals Tuesday filled the multi-purpose rooms of Farrand and Allen elementary schools, as Bessie Jones and the Georgia Sea Island Singers sang and displayed the culture of black slavery days.

Sponsored by the Plymouth Community Arts Council (PCAC), the group sang and clapped and jingled a tambourine to the tune of old black folk songs and the accompanying rhythm of students' wriggles and claps.

THREE GROUPS of preselected students and three volunteer teachers danced and clapped before the assembly to help demonstrate the games of American slavery days under the supervision of Mrs. Jones and three family members.

Mrs. Jones, born 73 years ago in the small farming community of Dawson, Ga., related the games taught by her grandfather, who once worked Georgia's plantations as a slave.

Students wriggled to the music from their seats on the floor and giggled to the sounds of the rhythmical games.

"It was good," said second grader Gary Stevenson after the show. "I especially liked it when the teachers played the games."

First grader Stacey Westover piped in, "I liked the show too. I've never really played like that."

Bessie Jones and the Georgia Sea Island Singers, sponsored by the PCAC and a grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts, performed as part of the Detroit Youtheatre's Show on the Road program, a division of the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Girls golf added to athletic program

The Plymouth Board of Education voted Monday night, while approving the 1975-76 operating budget, to add girls golf as a new sport this spring.

The sport was added when the board voted 4-3 to approve an amendment to a motion made to approve the budget. The approval of the $17.4 million budget was by a unanimous 7-0 vote.

Voting against adding girls golf were trustees Joseph Gray, Dr. E.J. McClendon and Gary Mirto.

THE AMENDMENT was offered by Marcia Borowski and supported by Tom Yack.

Borowski said the $2,000 needed to begin a girls' golf program should come from the existing athletic budget. She mentioned that since the athletic budget was submitted last January, only $1,000 had been cut: $250 for coaches clinics, $250 for custodial services and $500 for uniforms.

She suggested the $2,000 for girls golf could come from areas in the budget which haven't been cut, or from those which have, such as the coaches clinics category where none of the money has been spent yet.

Marda Benson commented that participation of girls in athletics has substantially increased in the district over the past couple years without increased cost to the district, which has placed a strain on the athletic budget.

Gray said he would support adding girls golf only if the board voted to reinstate the $1,000 already cut from the athletic budget. "Let's not start a program and have other programs suffer. Let's do it right by funding it adequately or don't put the program in."

A couple Saturdays ago Gray had been in favor of adding girls golf within the existing athletic budget, but Monday night he said he had done some research and was opposed unless more money was put into the budget.

THE MOTION to approve he operating budget was made by George Lawton and supported by Mirto.

Lawton's motion also included a provision that the budget will be placed on the agenda for ongoing review on the fourth board meeting of each month.

The budget has an $83,500 balance for contingencies which may be eroded within two weeks.

Superintendent John M. Hoben said he expects to learn within two weeks how much additional state aid the district will lose from the impending budget cut to be ordered by Gov. William Milliken to balance the state's budget.

Of the $17.4 million in revenues, 82 per cent comes from local sources and 16 per cent from the state. On the expenditure side, 85 per cent of the budget is spent for salaries and fringe benefits—$14.7 million.

The district levies 29.01 mills for operation plus 6.59 mills for debt retirement for a total levy of 35.6 mills ($35.60 per $1,000 state equalized valuation).

In the instructional area, almost $9.4 million is spent. The allocation among subject areas of these funds are: 23.9 per cent for language arts, 13.3 per cent for mathematics, 11 per cent for social studies, 8.3 per cent for science, 6.4 per cent for pupil personnel services, 5.3 per cent for physical education, 5 per cent for art, 4.2 per cent for music, 3.5 per cent for kindergarten, 3.3 per cent for multimedia, 3.2 per cent for reading improvement, 3 per cent for industrial education, 2.7 per cent for vocational education, 2.6 per cent for business education, 1.6 per cent for foreign languages, and fractions of one per cent for other areas such as driver education, community services and the school farm.

Concerned Students ask for calm study of CEP

The newly-organized group which calls itself Concerned Students appealed to the Plymouth Board of Education Monday night not to scrap modular scheduling in its entirety.

The students ask for a calming of emotions, a carefuly study, and then a determination of what improvements could be made.

Kevin Snoeberger, student, said he felt the system was working well. "There are problems but abolishing modular scheduling would be drastic. It would be better to modify than abolish."

THREE-FOURTHS of the students at the Centennial Educational Park (CEP) use their unstructured time constructively, he added.

"There has been a lot of talk about the use of drugs and alcohol, sex and vandalism at the Park. Well, there would be a drug problem under traditional scheduling. It only takes a moment to push a needle, and just a second to pop a pill.

"If somebody wants to take drugs, they will. It has little, if nothing, to do with modular scheduling. There's very little drinking going on out at the CEP.

"Not everybody makes good use of their time. But doing nothing in the commons area is no worse than sleeping in class or being bored in class.

"Some revisions can be made. But I don't think traditional scheduling will solve all our problems.

"Things would work better if we could discuss this issue calmly instead of going off half-cocked and making accusations without knowledge. Parents should come and tour the CEP and learn more about it before attacking the system."

KELVIN SNOEBERGER of Concerned Students commented that suggestions that open sexual relations occur at the CEP is an example of over-reaction.

He said Concerned Students were planning to meet today (Thursday) at 2:20 p.m. in the little theater in Plymouth Canton High and invited board members and interested persons to attend.

Trustee Marcia Borowski commented that volunteers taking surveys around for Concerned Parents should be very clear in identifying themselves and state they are doing the survey because some residents had received the impression the school district was conducting the survey.

MRS. FRANKIE JOHNSON of Concerned Parents said that the parents in her group in no way ever indicated that the CEP was Sin City.

"Channel 4 took an innocent remark made by Principal Bill Brown that "this isn't Sin City" and blew it up and capitalized on it. But it wasn't our doing.

"We have never tried to attack the schools on drugs or these other matters. We think these problems exist but the extent has been exaggerated by the television media."

Mobile homes to be inspected

Thoughts of unsafe electrical wiring or heating units will no longer worry mobile home residents in Canton Township, who move their homes from one trailer slab or park to another.

According to a resolution adopted by the board of trustees, township personnel will inspect all mobile homes moved into or within the township. Separate inspectors will examine the trailer's slab, electrical wiring, heating units, plumbing and smoke detectors.

A fee inspection schedule, recommended by township ordinance officer Bruce Phillips and building inspector Charlie Thompson, sets the electrical, plumbing,heating and building inspections at $10 for a total inspection fee of $40.

A survey of seven nearby municipalities shows other mobile home inspection fees set at $25 to $60, according to Phillips.

The inspection requirement and fee schedule conform to guidelines of the Michigan Department of Labor and Construction Code Commission as well as the state's BOCA code.

W-W pilots 5th grade program

By MARILYN FITCHETT

Wayne-Westland Board of Education Monday approved a pilot program which would introduce fifth graders to environmental education.

The district has entered into a contract with the ECOS Training Institute of Yorktown Heights, N.Y. to implement a program. The institute provides training, resource people, testing and evaluating of the program.

According to Dr. Waino Aukee, who chaired a committee investigating the program, the district was accepted for the program because of its use of a natural facility at the Cleveland-Wilson Nature Center.

"We had the natural facility, so it was felt that a program should be written for it," Aukee said.

"Now when the children visit the nature center, they will have more purpose and direction in going there."

The committe chose the fifth grade to introduce the class to tie in with the district's camping program which is offered to sixth graders.

"After some of our teachers observed the program in New York, we held local workshops in August," Aukee said. "It is our intent to have materials for other schools by June.

"We are going to be using the talents of the secondary teachers to work with elementary teachers in their field of expertise.

"Our product will be a collection of materials, which are not mandatory but can be infused into social studies, science and, to a degree, into English and art."

Aukee said the district will develope an "acceptable concept" of pollution control to be introduced to the children.

THE SIX PILOT schools chosen for the progam are Jefferson, Kettering, Lincoln, Roosevelt, Washington and Wilson. Fourteen teachers in the pilot schools will be training in in-service days through the rest of the year. They will attend a minimum of three, three-hour sessions.

In addition, teachers will receive assistance in the classromm from members of the environmental education committee. 4-H, and the Environmental Training Institute of Yorktown Heights.

The three areas of study will be living plant and animal communities, pollution and land use. Activities outside of the classroom will be conducted at the Cleveland-Wilson Nature Center with the hope that the center will become a "viable part of the district-wide environmental and outdoor education program."

Six other schools, whose teachers have not received environmental training, will serve as the control group. They are Elliott, Hoover, Jackson, Monroe, Taft and Vendenberg.

MEMBERS OF THE advisory committee who have received training are: Jan Sylvester, fourth grade teacher at Roosevlet; Pete Lawrie, fifth grade teacher at Jefferson; Sue Pikur, Todd Tinkham and Don Howarth, eight and ninth grade teachers at Stevenson; Alex Pogirski, science and math coordinator; Aukee, Kettering principal; Charles Long, Wayne Memorial biology teacher; Greg Bogdanski, 4-H Extension center, citizen Jim Risher and Eleanor Petty, Wilson principal.

Marr injured in plane crash

Jack A. Marr, who was injured in a two-plane collision at Salem airport Sunday, was reported still in critical condition Wednesday morning at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Marr, from her home at 9105 S. Main, Plymouth, said her husband was still in intensive care but that "The doctors give us every hope of his recovery."

Marr, 53, was a passenger in the airplane piloted by Arthur Rogers, 52, of 29106 Sunnydale, Livonia. Also seriously injured was Rogers' daughter, Beverly, 21, who is in the Ann Arbor Hospital.

Rogers and the pilot of the second aircraft, David March, 31, of Portsmouth, Ohio, were killed instantly in the crash which occured about 3:35 p.m. as both pilots were apparently attempting to land at the same time.

Marr, who is Rogers' brother-in-law, suffered cuts and burns.

Although eyewitnesses give different view of the collision. Police believe both planes were heading south toward the airport with the intention of landing.

It is believed that Rogers' Cessna, being a high wing plane and March's plane a lonw-wing Piper, made it impossible for the pilots to see each other making the approach to the landing strip.

Witnesses said the planes collided about 300 feet above the runway and fell immediately to the ground, bursting into flames. Both pilots were burned almost beyond recognition.

Salem airport, located off Six Mile Road, west of Northville has no radio control tower.

Marr had worked at Johnson Stamping in Plymouth about two years prior to being laid off las May. He was a fellow employee of Rogers who had been plant manager at the plant where he worked for about 25 years.

Northville Township police, along with Michigan State Police troopers who responded to the accident, said the planes landed in a swampy area north of the airport and that there was "Nothing but smoke and flames" when they arrived at the site.

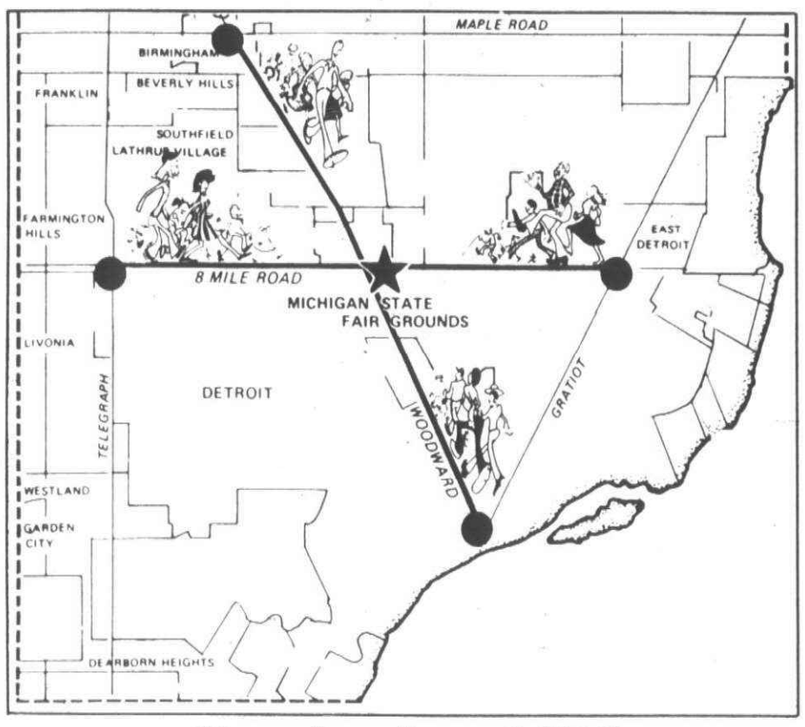
Business tax topic, Nov. 3

Michigan's new Single Business Tax will be the topic of The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants' (MACPA) annual state tax forum scheduled for Monday, Nov. 3, at the Raleigh House in Southfield.

Sydney D. Goodman, commissioner of Michigan Department of Treasury, as well as other state tax officials and CPAs will provide the audience with a systematic digest of the salient points of this fundamental change in the Michigan revenue system and its effect on record keeping and financial statement presentation. Richard E. Rewalt, CPA-attorney, chairman of the association's sponsoring committee, will preside over the program.



Brotherhood '76

Focus: HOPE, a civil and human rights organization, is sponsoring a suburb-city 7.6 mile parade beginning at noon, Sunday, Nov. 2 from four starting points: Eight Mile and Telegraph; Woodward at Maple (Shain Park); Woodward at Grand Circus Park; and Eight Mile and Gratiot. Its sixth annual brotherhood celebration, brotherhood '76 will culminate in an entertainment program at the Michigan State Fairgrounds' Band Shell. Walkers will solicit pledges for each mile they walk, with donations going to Focus: HOPE for its work against hunger, inequality and social injustice.

Still Growing

After all our years of service to this community, we still haven't grown settled in our ways.

We still believe in making progress. The opening of our new funeral home on Six Mile Road last year is just one more example of this.

And we still believe in updating our service to be in keeping with the changing needs of those who turn to us.

How to prevent a tragic Halloween

Halloween can be a safe holiday, without tragedy, if a few suggestions offered by the Plymouth City Police and Michigan State Police are followed.

The departments are working jointly in preparing safety tips which have been distributed by the Plymouth Community School District.

ONE SAFETY measure is a metal detector which the ITT Corporation has set up in the lobby of the Plymouth City Hall, 201 S. Main.

The machine can detect any foreign metallic material which may be in candy or other treats. All residents are encouraged to use this service from 6-10 p.m. Friday, Halloween Night, Oct. 31, and from 1-4 p.m. on Saturday, Nov. 1.

"In recent years, reports have come to police agencies about dangerous or harmful treats passed out to those seeking treats from door-to-door," comments Plymouth Police Chief Timothy C. Ford.

"While there has been only one such report in the city, the police agencies strongly recommend that all parents exercise careful control over the treats received.

"We strongly urge that children not consume any of the treats until they have been inspected. This should be done by parents or with the use of the metal detector in city hall. All are welcome to use the detector service. Any tainted or altered material should be reported to the police immediately upon discovery."

THE POLICE departments urge that Halloween be celebrated on Friday, Oct. 31. Suggestions include:

- Do trick or treating between hours of 6-8 p.m. Turn on all porch lights.
- An adult should accompany children.
- Cross streets only at corner.
- Dress children in light clothing and eliminate masks.
- Don't drive children around in a car.
- Keep parked cars off the street.
- If you drive, drive at speeds of less than 15 mph.
- Use battery-powered lights in pumpkins.
- Have children carry identification.
- Avoid taking candy or treats from strangers on the streets.

CHIEF FORD adds: "Devils night and Halloween are always good times to be enjoyed by the young and old.

"The objective of the police department in this area is to keep the activities within reasonable limits. There is a difference between pranks and activities which result in destruction or theft of property.

"We are certain, however, that ghosts and goblins will avoid extending their activities to the point where it will be necessary for the police officers to intervene.

"The police department urges everyone to exercise the greatest care and caution to make this a happy and safe Halloween for the entire community. We hope that as usual, there are few tricks and many treats."

At Harvard

Three Plymouth residents are now attending Harvard University: Don Burleson, who's on an MBA program at the Harvard Business School; Steve Hulce, a first year student at Harvard Business School; and John DeMott, a third year law student at Harvard.

Community Fund reports progress

The big thermometer in Kellogg Park, which shows progress of the Plymouth Community Fund Drive, has only reached the quarter mark.

Gil Forthofer, general chairman of the drive, said cash donations as of Monday totaled $58,000—25 per cent of this year's goal.

The door-to-door residential drive is almost wrapped up, Forthofer said, but funds reaped have fallen short of the goal.

With the business community and industrial drives under way, drive chairpersons hope to compensate for the residential drive's shortcoming and reach the total campaign goal of $230,000.

The Plymouth Community Fund Drive, scheduled to end Nov. 14, supports numerous local and regional agencies, including the American Red Cross, the Michigan Cancer Foundation, the Plymouth Junior Athletic Association, Boy Scouts, the Plymouth Dental Fund, local senior citizens groups, the Salvation Army, the Camp Fire Girls, Growth Works, Inc., and the Plymouth-Northville-Canton YMCA.

Persons who work outside Plymouth and contribute to the United Foundation through their jobs may earmark their donations for the Plymouth Community Fund. Persons may send contributions to the Plymouth Community Fund, P.O. Box 356, Plymouth, Mich. 48170.

Paula Peck of Plymouth is serving as news editor of Central Michigan Life, the student newspaper at Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant. Just recently, Life has been named one of the outstanding university newspapers in the country. The three-times-a-week publication was awarded the American Newspaper Publisher Association's Pacemaker award for 1975—making it one of two university newspapers in the nation to receive the award this year. Miss Peck was assistant news editor for Life last year, which was the judging period for the contest.

Try on a garden for Halloween

Costumes for trick or treating on Halloween have become big business nowadays. Cinderella and Frankenstein come boxed and ready to wear and can be purchased from any department or dime store. This Halloween, why not sit down with a child and dream up a costume that can be made from articles in the house instead of running out and buying a boxed witch? But, one thing to remember is to make the costumes safe.

Homemade costumes can be used by children for trick or treating and also by older folks going to Halloween parties, doing their trick or treating with an empty glass and ice cubes.

Old sheets—not necessarily white—are a good starting place. With all the prints available, it's possible to be disguised as a garden just using a flowered sheet and carrying a hoe and water pail. If a white sheet is used, cut it in wide strips, wrap it around the entire body and place an old hat painted red on your head and go as a cigarette. Sheets are not just for ghosts.

IF ANY wooden shoes are handy, a milkmaid is a pretty Halloween character. Braid hair, wear a dress and apron and carry a plastic pail for candy (or punch, whatever the situation). A hobo is a nice, grubby Halloween choice using a pillow and a lot of ashes for face and clothing.

A liberated witch can wear black pants and top, using a straggly wig and carrying a sign supporting ERA in place of the ever-faithful broomstick. With the bicentennial already under way, patriotic costumes also are in order. Wrap yourself in flag material and carry an imitation torch made from a can with a handle at the bottom— party-goers can use a beer mug instead.

Witches-liberated or not-are always popular.

WHATEVER THE costume, if a child is wearing it to trick or treat,remember to keep it safe. A light-colored costume embellished with reflective tape should be used if the child will be out during dusk or dark.

Costumes that are too big pose tripping hazards. So do garments that have wide capes, long skirts or trousers and dangling sleeves. Shoes should also fit properly.

Homemade costumes can be made flame-retardant by dipping the material in a solution of two quarts of warm water, seven ounces of borax and three ounces of boric acid. Thoroughly wet the garment in the mixture, let it drip dry, then iron. This treatment will last until the costume is washed or gets wet. When buying a costume, look for the flame-retardant label.

PAINTED FACES are much safer than masks ehich can hide oncoming traffic and other Halloween hazards from a child's view. Each child will look distinctive, and regular cosmetic make-up is more comfortable and cooler.

Motorists are advised to watch carefully for children on Halloween night. Slow down in residential areas and make sure headlights and windshields are clean to insure good visibility.

Regardless of whether costumes are store-bought or homemade, parents are urged to review safety habits with their children so Halloween will be a treat, not a trick.

Speaks today

Dr. Alfred Lee, president of the American Sociological Association (ASA) and a past chairman of the Michigan Sociological Association will speak at noon, Oct. 30, in the Schoolcraft College Liberal Arts Theater. Admission is free and the public welcome. His topic will be "The Goals of Sociologists." Dr. Lee's appearance, sponsored by the social sciences department and student activities, is being coordinated by Ron Jameson, a Schoolcraft sociology instructor and a director of the Michigan Association.

Madonna plans paralegal night

Legal assistants, legal secretaries and others interested in paralegal careers are invited to an orientation at Madonna College in Livonia on Monday, Nov. 3 at which the new legal assistants program will be described.

The orientation will begin at 7:30 p.m. in room 115 with a description of the program, application procedures, and financial aid.

Students hoping to enter the paralegal profession may earn either the associate or bachelor's degree. In addition, those with a baccalaureate degree may earn a certificate of achievement. Students may also earn credit for work experience.

The legal assistant program has been designed in strict accordance with the guidelines prepared by the American Bar Association's special committee on legal assistants, according to Dennis Bozyk, program coordinator and chairperson of the Madonna College social science division.

Further information about the orientation or about the program may be obtained by calling Louis Brohl, director of admissions at Madonna, 425-8000, ext. 18.

Harris is suburban water rep.

Detroit Mayor Coleman Young has announced two appointments to regional organizations and restated his belief that ties between Detroit and its suburban neighbors should be strengthened.

Mayor John M. Harris of Dearborn Heights has been named to the Detroit Metro Water Board. Walter E. Douglas, a vice president of New Detroit Inc., has been appointed to the Southeast Michigan Transportation Authority, subject to approval by SEMCOG.

Harris will take the seat held by Livonia Mayor Edward McNamara until he was fired by Young last month.

Harris, 49, during 19 years of public service in his suburban community, has served on the board of education, the planning commission, the township board, and the city council. Before appointment as mayor, he served as Dearborn Heights' city clerk and as mayor pro tem.

INSULATION

Who's afraid of the Big Good Wolf?

Local school children aren't, once they've met pretty Nahanni

Staff photos: BOB WOODRING

Beth Duman's knowledge of wolf sociology came in handy 1½ years ago when she gave birth to daughter Katherine.

Bob and Beth Duman's wolf, Nahanni, was elated, Beth recalled, "but I had to watch her because I definitely did not want her carrying the baby around by the head.

"So I growled at her (the way the alpha female in a pack would growl at a subordinate female), and Nahanni accepted me as a mother wolf taking care of her puppy."

Besides being a member of the Duman "pack" in Oakland County's rural White Lake Township, Nahanni has another distinction. The three-year-old grey timber wolf is probably the most famous animal among kids in the metropolitan area since Jo Mendi, the chimp at the zoo.

In the company of Mrs. Duman, Nahanni has visited more than 200 schools in this area and 80 in Grand Rapids, and has been petted by tens of thousands of youngsters. So if you take your youngster to hear "Peter and the Wolf" and find him cheering for the wolf, it may be because of Nahanni.

"SHE'S GENERALLY submissive to people," says Mrs. Duman, who tells everyone not to show fear around Nahanni because "she picks out submissive kids—maybe it's the adrenalin—and growls."

A former teacher, Mrs. Duman takes the 64-pound Canis lupus lycaon to schools to give children these messages:

• "Wolves are predators, animals that kill other animals for their food. But there is not one authenticated case of a healthy wolf or pack of wolves ever attacking and killing a person in all of North America.

• "Wolves generally can catch only old or diseased animals and some unprotected young. Wolves play an important role in preventing over-population in game animals by continual culling of the diseased and weak animals." (Man, it could be added, does the opposite, seeking out the trophy animals and thus weakening the species.)

• "Wolves kill only to eat. They have a highly developed social order in the pack. Unlike dogs, wolves rarely fight with each other."

Nevertheless, the Michigan Deer Hunters Association still insists that wolves slaughter herds of deer and often don't bother to eat their kills. Friends of the wolves, however, say that if wolves could outrun healthy deer, the wolves would eliminate their own food supply and exterminate themselves—a clear absurdity.

IN A SCHOOL hallway, Nahanni looks like, and is sometimes mistaken for, a big dog. "Wolves and dogs can interbreed. They're genetically the same species," says Beth, a former Southfield girl with a background in biology.

But dogs have had wolfish character traits—as distinguished from biological traits—bred out of them, she adds, and so wolves have different personalities.

As her husband Bob and daughter Katherine played with Nahanni on the floor of their home, Beth told what makes wolves different.

"She can't be kept in a house long," Beth said frankly, "because she scent-marks everything by urinating on it." Male dogs retain some of that trait by scent-marking their territories but Nahanni's scent-marking is extreme in comparison.

So Nahanni has a pair of large, tree-shaded pens with a sign that says "Beware of the Dog." They don't manufacture "Beware of the Wolf" signs, you know.

Dogs can be taught to obey commands. Nahanni is untrainable.

"Nahanni is social-climbing. Bob is obviously head of the 'pack,' and she is especially submissive to him," Beth added.

In wolf sociology, the head male is called "alpha wolf." In the Duman household, alpha is Wolfgang, a deaf, neutered male Dalmatian. Nahanni lays back her ears and curls under her rump in his presence.

In turn, Nahanni dominates little Cricket, the small black female dog in the household.

DOGS LIKE TO play "fetch" and "tug." Nahanni's game is "stalk and pounce."

"She's much more active than a dog. She tears around the place. When you're on the phone, she knows your attention is diverted, and she chews things," Beth said.

Nahanni uses her mouth for social contact far more than a dog would, although she's very gentle about it.

"She has cow-hocked legs," Beth went on. "That's been bred out of dogs because people want their pets to have nice, straight legs. And she has coarse fur, but dogs have been bred to have soft fur."

Whereas female dogs come into season for about two weeks twice a year, Nahanni has one four-week season in February. Apparently her ready-to-mate scent is weaker than a dog's.

NAHANNI WAS born in Aqualand, a commercial zoo in northeastern Wisconsin which has provided such animals as otters for Walt Disney movies. She dominated her litter of three.

At nine days, she began nursing on a human-held bottle and so became socialized to people. If socializing isn't done immediately, Beth said, a wolf never becomes accustomed to humans.

The Dumans bought her there, naming her for a wild Canadian River, and vowed she would have "maximum social contacts—at least 30 people a day," Beth said.

Nahanni's two brothers were less lucky. Within a year, their purchasers had sold them back to zoos, which Beth says is the pattern. Once wolves have been around humans, they cannot be returned to the wild.

SHORTLY AFTER the Dumans brought Nahanni to Michigan in 1972, the state imposed tough new restrictions on the issuance of wolf permits. They will be issued for educational and research purposes only—and very sparingly. A private individual today can forget about having a wolf for a pet.

Besides Nahanni, there are only two other licensed wolves in Michigan, one in the Flint area, the other in Battle Creek. Beth cautions against going to breeders who advertise animals as half- or three-quarters wolf. "Ask the breeder to show you the parent wolf," she advises. "Usually they can't."

MILDLY KOOKY, though in the pleasantest possible way, Beth went to Brace School and Southfield High School and earned a degree in biology at Wayne State University.

She taught biology at St. Andrew High School in Detroit but was fired for being too friendly with a nun who was considering leaving the convent. Beth then taught at Bishop Foley High in Madison Heights "but retired to have the wolf."

Husband Bob, once a Benedictine monk, studied biology in order to get a job. He came here from Pennsylvania in the late '60s to work for the University of Detroit on a much-publicized but ultimately inconclusive bacteriology study of the Huron River. He's now a technical analyst in computers with Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

A school can schedule Beth and Nahanni by contacting the North American Wildlife Park Foundation, Inc., Battle Ground, Ind. 47920.

NAWPF handles their exhibition permit, pays their liability insurance, does their booking, provides inexpensive books on wolves that Beth sells, and gives the Dumans access to wolf research.

The modest fee covers expenses and mileage.

AT HOME, Nahanni is loose only in her pen and during her occasional visits to the house, occupied by the Dumans, the dogs, two cats, tropical fish and a box turtle.

Nahanni eats dog food. "The first time she ran loose and someone found a dead chicken, we'd have a legal suit on our hands," Beth said.

"Nahanni has never really barked," she said. Barking is something dogs have picked up in their contacts with humans, it seems.

Instead, Nahanni prefers to howl. "Wolves howl to bring the pack together, and members of the pack recognize each other."

To show what she meant, Beth began their pack howl in a clear coloratura. Bob joined in with a sound punctuated by yips, and Nahanni had to work hard to be heard.

"Everybody howl," Beth hollered between howls. "C'mon, Tim, you have to howl, too . . ."

Nahanni affectionately acknowledges Bob Duman as her "pack" leader.

Despite fairy tales, children learn not to fear Nahanni in Livonia's Kennedy School.

A pack howl is let loose by Katherine, Beth, Nahanni and Bob. Wolfgang the Dalmatian (on couch at left) fails to join because he is deaf

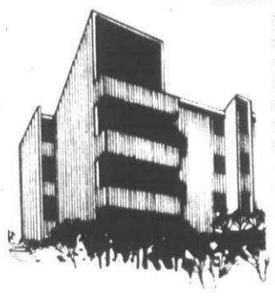
What's a nice skier like you doing at a place like Timberlee...

I like to ski and that's what I do at Timberlee.


Their 16 slopes offer a variety of challenges or just relaxing skiing. Chair lifts, poma-lift and a rope tow for beginners will get you to the top. There's a pro shop for rental and repairs. For apres-ski, I stay at Sun Perch overlooking the slopes. There's a choice of two bedroom apartments or studios with complete kitchens, linens and modern designer furnishings. Regular motel accommodations are available too. At the Hill House, it's dinner and lunch at the Gold Brick Saloon or the Farmer's Daughter Cafeteria. You don't have to worry about fancy duds and a pre-planned carnival atmosphere. We make our own fun at Timberlee.
I'm a meat and potatoes man and I like my skiing the same way.

Some good—and bad—tricks for Halloween

Eccentricities

by HENRY M. HOGAN, JR.

Halloween is coming up tomorrow night. It can be a night of fun and joy or a night of tragedy and damage.

It is too bad someone hasn't written a primer or set up Marquis of Queensbury rules to give youngsters some guidance in what is fun and what is damage.

Somehow, someone should instill in children the fact that the Golden Rule works on Halloween: "Don't do anything to anyone else's property that you wouldn't want to clean up yourself, if it were done to your property."

If a primer were written on Halloween, it would have to include some of the best tricks that are really fun and do no damage to the property of others.

PROBABLY THE most unusual trick I have heard about is kids collecting dog droppings in paper bags and leaving them on stoops. They light the bag, ring the doorbell and hide. Then the householder comes out and tries to stamp out the fire.

Another trick is putting a log between the screen door and the inner door. When the door is opened the log rolls in.

A popular trick is for groups of kids to stand on either side of the road, pretending they are pulling a rope across the road, which slows down traffic. This, of course, would be dangerous if the kids were to get into the roadway.

A FOURTH TRICK is putting a nail on a string and hanging it over a window shutter where it will make a tick, tick sound as it hits the window. When people go to the window to investigate, they won't see anything.

A fifth harmless trick is writing words with flour on people's front lawns. It can be removed with a hose the next day.

The no-no list would include putting toilet paper on trees because of the difficulty in removing it, or throwing eggs, which contain an acid which eats into paint and asphalt.

Waxing or soaping of screens is a no-no because of the damage that results. It is also considered bad taste to smash pumpkins, since people have gone to considerable trouble to help celebrate Halloween with the kids.

JUST AS THERE are tricks for kids, the person answering the door doesn't have to be defenseless. I have heard of people putting a hose inside of their house and spraying the kids if they perform dirty tricks.

Other parents dress up in scary costumes to join in the spirit of Halloween.

There is always the mean old man who drops rocks or other heavy objects in kids' bags, breaking out the bottoms, or the dropping of little unsealed plastic baggies filled with motor oil so that the oil eventually weakens the bottoms of the bags.

IF A PRIMER were written, it should tell the children not to wear dark costumes because drivers of cars can't see them after dark. The costumes should be designed for mobility instead of beauty because exotic costumes don't last long when one is going door to door.

Householders should be told not to give too good a treat or the same trick-or-treaters will keep returning for more.

It is always fun to see the wide range of costumes, from very beautiful and ornate to some kids with just a slouch hat, hungry for munchies.

THE KIDS HAVE reported to me some replies that they have heard from householders, like the booming voice after they've rung the doorbell, saying "Come back at halftime."

Fortunately, this year Halloween doesn't conflict with Monday night football.

Another expression that is an open invitation for problems is when the householder says, "Let me see your trick before I give you my treat."

If Halloween is to be fun for everyone, then unbridled youth must be given guidelines as to what is fun and games and what is lasting damage.

That responsibility is their parents'.

Local folks can save Parliament

Fred DeLano writes

While the colonies are engaged Tuesday in their sport of municipal elections, back home in the mother country they'll be hanging Guy Fawkes in effigy again Nov. 5.

Fifteen years before that shipload of transients sailed from England and later fell in love with old Cape Cod, some of the dissidents who dwelled around and about pastoral England vowed they'd had enough of King James I and his government. They went about solving their tiff the hard way.

Their solution was to sneak some kegs of gunpowder to the cellar of the House of Lords, apparently with the intention of blowing most of the royalty to kingdom come on the day the 1605 Parliament was to convene.

As often happens to such sinister plots, both in real life and on television, somebody let the cat out of the bag, and the king's royal fuzz were at the cellar door as a greeting committee when Guy and his buddies arrived, matches in hand.

HISTORIANS HAVE called this aborted uprising the "Gunpowder Plot," which demonstrates a shocking lack of imagination, and its annual perpetuation long ago became known simply as Guy Fawkes Day.

As in many losing situations, there has to be a fall guy, and maybe that's how Fawkes went into the books as the chief conspirator.

Guy was only one of a number who were dispatched to their graves ere the sun set on that infamous day, but whether he was kingpin of the conspirators seems to have been lost in the retelling.

ONE SUSPECTS that down to the tasteless end, he never knew who spilled the beans, but later on it turned out that one of the mob had a relative who was a member of Parliament.

This led to a personal warning to his lordship not to risk his life and limb on the day in question because things were going to be go "boom," and that's when the law moved in.

The reason that in England they still pop cannons and corks and hang Guy Fawkes in effigy every Nov. 5 is to celebrate that as the date Parliament was saved.

Somehow it seems an interesting coincidence that the 1975 elections in the colonies fall so close to Guy Fawkes Day. Your way, figuratively, to "save Parliament" is to vote.

Public transit's best friends oppose Milliken-Young deal

Tim Richard writes

When some of your best allies are against you, you've got trouble. And right now, Gov. Bill Milliken has big trouble over the deal he made with Detroit Mayor Coleman Young to "restructure" the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority (SEMTA).

Two of the best friends SEMTA and the cause of public transportation ever had are State Sen. Carl Pursell, a Republican from Plymouth whose district includes Livonia and Redford, and Oakland County Commissioner Larry Pernick, a Democrat from Southfield.

Right now, SEMTA, the seven-county regional transit agency, has a nine-member board. Six members are appointed by SEMCOG, the regional planning agency, and three by the governor. Under the Milliken-Young deal, SEMTA would have a 13-member board—five named by Mayor Young, five suburbanites chosen by SEMCOG and three by the governor (with one hooker: The governor's three would be subject to approval of six of the other 10).

PERNICK IS aware not only of the Milliken-Young deal but of other ideas—such as letting county boards of commissioners name the transportation authority board members.

In very thoughtful remarks prepared for the Senate committee studying implementation of the Milliken-Young deal, Pernick stated the case for continuing SEMCOG as the appointing authority.

"SEMCOG is the metropolitan planning organization for federal monies and, as such, serves as the forum for cooperative decision-making by principal elected officials of general purpose government.

"SEMCOG is the only vehicle in the region which has representation from all levels of government—county, city and township."

In other words, Pernick was putting his finger on the heart of the problem: SEMCOG's general assembly has a fully regional point of view. A transportation authority board appointed by provincial, balkanized local governments is less likely to think of the common good of all five million people in the region.

The goal, said Pernick, "is the system itself—and not the glory of the governmental unit that runs the system."

PURSELL, AN ASTUTE politician as well as a visionary, zeroed in on another flaw—the apportionment of SEMTA seats.

The Milliken-Young deal would give Detroit five seats and the suburbs five seats. Yet Detroit's population is 1.3 million while western Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties have something like 2.8 million. That kind of apportionment grossly violates the "one man, one vote" principle that Coleman Young used to support when he was a civil libertarian back in his Senate days.

Pursell told his fellow senators Mayor Young's current reaction to that principle: "Yeah, Carl, but I have the buses."

To which Pursell replied: "Sure, Coleman, but buses don't vote!"

THE MORAL is that there's no place for "Detroit versus the suburbs" thinking. We are one region—one economic whole.

We can't afford to be provincial. But provincialism is precisely what we're going to get if we have Detroit aggressively pushing its own point of view, western Wayne County thinking only of its interests, Oakland seeking to take care of Oakland. . .

We're all in this public transportation problem together. And there's only one place where folks from all seven counties with their 200-plus local governments come together: In the General Assembly of SEMCOG, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments. If we're ever going to stop thinking like selfish balkan states, then SEMCOG must be the agency to pick the transportation authority board.

When you have two enlightened champions of public transportation like Larry Pernick and Carl Pursell saying that, then it's clear the Milliken-Young deal is in big trouble.

Realtor hits pollution rules

READERS' FORUM

Editor:

This is to voice my opinion of the environmental protection agency regulations being formulated by the subcommittee on environmental pollution of the Senate Public Works Committee and the subcommittee on public health and environment of the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee.

It is my understanding of the present bill before these committees for hearings that they will eliminate virtually all development of undeveloped land in the U.S. without a minimum of a one-year delay and in most cases will permit no development whatsoever.

The real estate that is developed in this country and in our area in particular will by no stretch of the imagination handle the needs at present, let alone those of upcoming generations.

The previous law, which listed two pollutant elements in the atmosphere for control and regulation—sulfur dioxide and particulates—was hard enough to live with in developing the commercial, residential and recreational needs of the people. The new regulations, as proposed, listing six pollutants, can be interpreted as nothing but another bureaucratic attempt at absolute control of the progress and lifestyle of the citizens of the U.S.

While recognizing the need of providing minimum air control measures to guarantee the health of our air, by no stretch of the imagination can we condone this no-growth federal land control on the basis of a single criteria—that being whether we are for "pure" air. We all recognize that there is no such thing as "pure" air, only reasonable air, in any developed area.

If we are going to control the pollutants in air, the place to control them is not by saying there shall be no development or only development under strict federal control. Rather, it is by controlling the items that create pollution—i.e., automobile exhaust, heating plant exhaust, dust created by gravel roads and parking areas. This can be done certainly with a lot less control than is currently being proposed or that was in the present law which this proposal is supposed to supercede.

Reform law piece timely

Editor:

I read with interest Tim Richard's editorial opinion of Oct. 9 concerning the new Campaign Reform Act.

As you may know, the county clerk has many functions delegated to him by this new statute, so I have been making a thorough study of this piece of legislation and have watched, with interest, the press reports of its contents.

I compliment Richard on having the one that most accurately describes the provisions of this new law. Far too many press reports have been grossly inaccurate. Of course, the full impact of the law will not be known until the governor appoints the Ethics Commission which will promulgate the rules necessary to fully implement the law.

Two very minor points: In the section called, "They would be required to reveal: Business interest where one is a partner director, officer, stockholder of more than $1,000 or five per cent equity or employe": Where a person is required to file, as noted above, if their equity is 10 per cent in any business, then a complete reporting on the business itself must be filed. Further in that section: "Security given for debts and terms of repayment," that should read for debts of $1,000 or more.

Again, my compliments on a timely and accurate article

How many $750s cover $9 million?

Editor:

Hank Hogan is kidding, right? He just wanted to see if anyone read his column last week? I hope so because his ideas on taxation have more holes than a kitchen collander.

Enclosed is an article stating that Northrup Corp. is being questioned about $9.9 million in entertainment deductions. It isn't difficult to find several articles a week of this nature. How many $750 deductions does it take to cover $9.9 million?

For the most part, unemployment is cyclical and paid for during productive years. Is he really that secure that he knows he will never have any need of Social Security, welfare or unemployment compensation? No one has any guarantees in this life.

It seems the ones who protest the loudest about taxes are the first in line for a "freebee" and don't miss a trick to save a nickel at somebody's expense.

And how does he propose all people to be treated equally under our system of 20 per cent across-the-board taxation? The guy making $50,000 will still have $40,000 to obtain food, medical care, education and legal services. The one making $5,000 will have $4,000 left and be lucky to feed and shelter himself, and heaven help him if he should get sick because Hogan's system doesn't allow medical deductions.

Our tax system does need improvement, but sorry, I think the coffers will fill up faster if we start at the big inequities (just in case he wasn't kidding).

In case Hogan's serious, I hope he has invested heavily in New York bonds and may he be blessed with triplets! Neither would be deductible under his system.

Regional voice appreciated

Editor:

I have just received a copy of Tim Richard's editorial of Oct. 2 which deals with the tri-party agreement between the Southeastern Michigan Transportation Authority, the State Highway Commission and the City of Detroit.

His voice in support of the true regional approach to major problems, particularly transportation, is very much appreciated.

As he pointed out, the struggle now rests with the State Legislature. It will be interesting to see the results of their negotiations.

Twice a week is better!

Western Wayne conference boosters want nearby games

By TIM RICHARD

More than half of western Wayne County high schools have expressed at least mild interest in a proposal to form a new athletic league closer to everyone's home.

The two Redford Township school districts haven't commented, the two Garden City athletic directors are opposed, and both Franklin and Churchill in Livonia are reported to be satisfied with their present setups.

But officials in Wayne-Westland, Plymouth and Livonia are studying the matter with some degree of interest.

THE IDEA was often the subject of columns by George Maskin in the years when he was sports editor for the former Observer Newspapers. But little happened until early in October of this year when the Bentley Dads Club and Stevenson Boosters began rounding up support.

The obvious reasons are savings in gasoline for bus trips during an energy shortage, savings in overtime for bus drivers during a period of budget cuts and greater local attendance. One booster noted attendance falls off noticeably when people have to drive more than 10 miles to a football game.

There's another monetary angle: Attendance means revenue, and games closer to home mean more ticket sales on the "visitors" side of the field.

Other reasons appear after some study: Girls sports are drawing more participants and, with time, more spectators. Travel costs will soar not only with gasoline prices but also with the growing numbers of sports.

There is an unspoken political reason for more compact leagues: Suburban schools have consistently opposed cross-district busing with Detroit for integrated classrooms. How, the NAACP might argue, can suburbs justify busing students to football games the other side of Pontiac or down in Trenton?

THERE'S ANOTHER side to the argument.

"Several traditional rivalries have been built up over the years," notes another former sports editor, Tom Schram. "When Plymouth Salem plays Trenton in football, the emotion of the game itself often changes the outcome. Same with Churchill and Waterford Mott."

A Wayne-Westland official notes the possibility of vandalism prior to a game with a nearby, loathed rival.

Another Wayne-Westland official says there are positive gains from visiting other schools and "seeing how they operate." While that's an advantage to administrators, it wasn't seen as an advantage to students and parents, who go to football games for recreation.

ATHLETIC LEAGUES seem to have grown historically, with schools formed about the same time being in the same league.

Thus, Plymouth Salem, Livonia Bentley and Redford Union are in the same league as such long-established schools as Belleville, Dearborn, Allen Park and Trenton. On the other hand, Churchill, Plymouth Canton and Farmington Harrison are associated with Waterford Mott and Walled Lake Western, all young schools.

There is some logic, then, to pitting newer schools with less developed athletic programs against each other rather than against older, experienced schools. In time, of course, the argument literally wears out.

Garden City East and Livonia Franklin are satisfied because their league is fairly tight geographically right now: Glenn of Westland, SR's Thurston and North Farmington.

One school not included in the discussions is Clarenceville, which this year joined a new Metro West league with Annapolis of Dearborn Heights, Oak Park and Woodhaven—none of which has had stirring football records in the past.

The leagues at present

INTER-LAKES: Livonia Stevenson, Farmington, Pontiac Northern, Walled Lake Central, Waterford, Milford Lakeland.

NORTHWEST SUBURBAN: Livonia Franklin, North Farmington, John Glenn of Wayne-Westland, Garden City East, Thurston of South Redford.

SUBURBAN 8: Plymouth Salem, Livonia Bentley, Redford Union, Belleville, Dearborn, Edsel Ford of Dearborn, Allen Park, Trenton.

TRI-RIVER: Garden City West, Southgate, Melvindale, Dearborn Heights Riverside, Taylor Kennedy, Dearborn Heights Crestwood, Cherry Hill, Southgate Schafer.

WESTERN 6: Livonia Churchill, Plymouth Canton, Farmington Harrison, Northville, Waterford Mott, Walled Lake Western.

Introducing
The Whatchamacallit Loan

The Whatchamacallit happens not to exist. Yet. But if it did we at Triple-A would be happy to lend you the money to buy it.

In the meantime, we'll lend you the money to buy any of the things it represents—a new or used car, motor home, camper, boat, snowmobile or all-terrain-vehicle.

And, we'll give you a better interest rate than most banks or dealers. We urge you to do some comparison pricing if you don't believe it.

Call Triple-A about a Whatchamacallit loan (a Triple-A MemberLoan as we call it). Especially in these times when a quick, low-cost loan seems as hard to find as a Whatchamacallit.

Halloween with Gundella

It's witches' big night, but they don't trick or treat or go to masquerades

Witch Watch by GUNDELLA

To a witch, Halloween is more than just a day, it's a season. October becomes "Halloween time" in much the same way that the whole month of December is thought of as "Christmas time."

It's a combination of beautiful colors, falling leaves that rustle as you walk through them, pumpkins at roadside stands, cider and donuts, and whole neighborhoods of houses wildly decorated with pictures of black cats, skeletons, bats, witches, ghosts, and goblins of all sorts, and jack-o-lanterns sitting on the doorstep.

To me, personally, it also means turning green frequently. I achieve this with food coloring in much the same way that witches in the Middle Ages dyed their skin with vegetable dyes to identify with the red, blue, or green witch cults of that day.

It is really guite effective when telling folk tales to children, and with the advent of color television, I am often asked to dye myself green for adults as well, when I am to appear on TV talk shows.

One time I was discussing this with WJR program director Hal Youngblood at a cocktail party when a young lady overheard part of our conversation and interrupted, asking, "do you really turn green?"

"Oh, yes," answered Hal, "ghastly green. You really ought to see her."

Before I had a chance to explain how it was done, she uttered in amazament, "Gee, and I thought I had psychic powers!"

OCTOBER IS my busiest month of the year. I am always invited to many Halloween parties throughout the month, and I sometimes have a party of my own, but never, never, on Oct. 31, for that is the night our witch coven meets to observe the rites of winter.

Last year, I was hired to speak at a banquet in Troy, Ohio, at 6 p.m. on Halloween. I really wanted to do this, but I had to be back in Ann Arbor by 9 that night. It's a short flight, but there were no planes scheduled for the time I needed to leave.

So the company which hired me decided to charter a plane so that I could appear there at dinner, and be back here in time for our Ritual.

It worked out fine, and I was back with time to spare. When we landed, the pilot asked for my autograph, and wanted to be sure it was dated. He explained, "Otherwise, no one would believe that I spent Halloween night flying a witch to her coven meeting."

PERHAPS THE STRANGEST Halloween experience I ever had was a thing that happened in October, 1971. I was hired to entertain at the Wonderland shopping center in Livonia. It was to be a fun thing, with cauldrons, dry ice, etc., and of course I would be dyed green, dressed in black, and carrying a broom.

There was nothing serious about it, but some of the church people in the community became so upset about this that the show was canceled at the last minute to avoid a riot.

It seems that they had no objection to such a show if an actress played the part of the witch, but they objected strenuously to me, a real witch, doing so. They were really afraid of me.

Things seemed to have changed a great deal since then, however, for this year, on Oct. 12, I was guest lecturer for the senior high students at the St. Paul Presbyterian Church in that same community.

HALLOWEEN IS ONE of the four main witchcraft sabbats. On this day, the coven meets to recognize the coming of winter, the long sleep of the earth.

Witches observe this day by looking back over the year just past, and asking themselves what they have done in the past year that they should not have done, and what they did not do that they should have.

Each witch writes her own petition in secret, listing her mistakes and short-comings. (I suppose this is something like confession is to Catholics.)

Then she steps forward and places her folded paper in the ritual fire with much moaning, sighing, and expressions of grief and penance. This gets to be quite a noisy scene as, one by one, her sister witches each follow suit.

THEN, WHEN the weeping and wailing becomes almost unbearable, the leader calls for silence, and demands of us that we spend no more time mourning over the past failures, but instead, look ahead and plan to do better in the seasons to come, and reminds us that there is no better time to start mending our ways than right now.

The ritual continues with each witch vowing to use the winter as a time to regain her strength, and rectify her past mistakes, so that she may enter into the coming new year a better and more worthwhile person.

Like all other sabbat rituals, this one ends with song and dance. But the circle moves slowly, and the song is one of a very serious nature.

THE SLEEPING SONG

The last year of our life has gone past our recalling,
Except for our feelings of pride and regret;
Of all that was dreadful, just dull, or enthralling,
What should we remember, and how much forget?

Is a Beneficent Being above us?
Or nothing whatever concerned with our fate?
Are there good spirits that care for and love us?
Or none but ourselves to consider our state.

What is the meaning of human existence?
And may we become any more than mere man?
Such vital enigmas demand with insistence.
We seek their solutions however we can.

If reincarnation should ever restore us
to birth beyond reach of a blessing or curse,
And we had our lives once again set before us,
Should we do better, or might we do worse?

Blessed be life beyond all need of dying,
And happy the soul with no burden to shed,
Yet who knows, without any thought of denying,
Whether it's best to be living or dead?

Our questions are answered by living and learning
Whatever comes next on the path we must plod,
Between birth and death, while we have means of earning
The wisdom that makes man become like a God.

Sleep! Deep! Hoping to wake with the Blest.
Dream! Scheme! How we may live for the best.
Our past left behind leaves a future to find,
So now let us thankfully rest.

Booths to feature flowers and gifts

Handcrafted gifts made by members of the Hawthorn Center Chapter of the Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children will be on sale during the Community Days Bazaar at the Westland Shopping Center set for the weekends of Oct 31 and Nov. 7.

Among the 58 other local service organizations also to have booths during the event will the Livonia Branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association.

Their exhibit will be on view Friday, Oct. 31 and Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 1 and 2. It will feature dried flower arrangements, Christmas wreaths, candle wreaths, ornaments and Indian corn dolls.

Members of the Hawthorn chapter of MAEDC will set up their tables Nov. 7, 8 and 9 to sell such items as non-allergic stuffed toys, puppets, appliqued sweatshirts, baby sweaters, quilted patchwork Christmas stockings, old-fashioned tree ornaments, smocks and terrariums.

On Friday and Saturday their booth will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. On Sunday the gift items may be purchased from 12 noon to 5 p.m.

Proceeds from the gift sale will be used to aid children with emotional illnesses.

Brown U will be topic

Gail Mitchell, admission officer of Brown University in Providence, R.I. will present "An Introduction to Brown University" Wednesday, Nov. 5 at 8 p.m. in Birmingham Community House, 380 S. Bates, Birmingham.

Students, parents and college counselors are invited to attend.

China painters plan show

Three area china painters will contribute to the north central regional show of the International China Painting Teachers Organization to be held Oct. 30 and 31 and Nov. 1 in Troy Hilton Inn.

Frances Ebart of Plymouth and Doris Nofz will work on the display of antique china. Bill Thompson of Livonia will exhibit his paintings on china of birds.

Show hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Friday and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday. A banquet will be held Sunday at 8:30 p.m. Admission to the show is $1.

Stockers have anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Don Stocker of Redford Township recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary at a reception sponsored by Mr. Stocker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A.O. Stocker, also of Redford Township.

Orthodonist is speaker

Dr. Eugene P. Hawthorne, an orthodonist, will speak on "The Influence of Dentistry on the Growth and Development of the Cleft Lip-Palate Child" Tuesday, Nov. 4 at 7:30 p.m. in Children's Hospital, 3901 Beaubien, Detroit.

The meeting is sponsored by the Cleft Lip-Cleft Palate Parents of Metro Detroit, a non-profit organization devoted to providing information and moral support to families with cleft lip and-or palate children.

Consumer conference set

S. John Byington, former Michigan attorney and now deputy special assistant to President Gerald Ford on consumer affair, will speak on "New Directions in Consumer Education" during a two-day consumer education conference to be held in Kellogg Center at Michigan State University Oct. 30 and 31.

Session topics include law and the consumer, consumer mathematics, the food consumer and consumer education through newspapers.

Bazaar to feature avenue of shops

An avenue of shops will be the highlight of the 15th annual Christmas bazaar Thursday, Nov. 6, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. in St. Andrew Episcopal Church, 16360 Hubbard, Livonia.

The shops will include a boutique of handcrafted gifts of varying kinds of material, and a Christmas shop glittering with ornaments, centerpieces and pine cone wreaths.

The country kitchen will beckon customers with aromas of jams, jellies, candies, baked goods and home canned items. At the shop called nearly new, customers will find clothing bargains in sizes from infant to 12.

Tot to teen features wooden toys, gifts and games. Treasure trunk holds many items for the home. The flower shop is bursting with house plants, terrariums and dried flower arrangements in different containers for every decor.

Many of the handcrafted items were made during the past year by women of the church.

Co-chairmen of the event are Mrs. Jan Osborne and Mrs. Barb Rouston. There will be a free nursery during the bazaar and luncheon will be served from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. A chicken pie dinner will begin at 6 p.m. and will be followed by an auction of all the unsold items.

Proceeds from the bazaar will be used for activities sponsored by church women.

Antagonists will debate ERA issue

Two women will verbally lock horns over the question of the Equal Rights Amendment at an open forum sponsored by the women's resource center at Schoolcraft College Wednesday, Nov. 5 at 8 p.m. in the upper level of the Waterman Center at the college.

Elaine Donnelly, chairman of the Michigan Stop ERA committee, will debate Audrey Perry, chairman of the Monroe County Republican Party and executive coordinator of Women Organized To Meet Existing Needs.

Sister Margaret Basso of Newman Center will serve as moderator.

"WE WANT TO AIR the issue for those who have not made a final, irrevocable decision about the desirability of ERA," said Jean Christensen of women's programs and services at the college.

The format of the debate will revolve around 12 questions submitted to each speaker which they will have limited time to answer.

One of the questions, for example, will be "Since many equality laws such as the 14th Amendment, the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and the Equal Employment Act of 1972 already exist, is there any need to ratify ERA?"

Another will be "If the ERA is ratified, will women be more subject to military service than under current legislation?"

"WE SUPPORT THE LAWS currently in effect in this country which grant women special rights, privileges and exemptions," said Mrs. Donnelly concerning her organization. "We oppose any law (especially the proposed ERA) which would take away those rights, privileges and exemptions."

Women named to posts

Marie Elbe of Westland and Betty Chapman of Garden City are in posts of leadership with the 16th district of the American Legion Auxiliary.

Both are members of the Women's Auxiliary to American Legion Post 111 in Wayne.

Mrs. Elbe will chair the committee on children and youth, and Mrs. Chapman will chair the poppy committee.

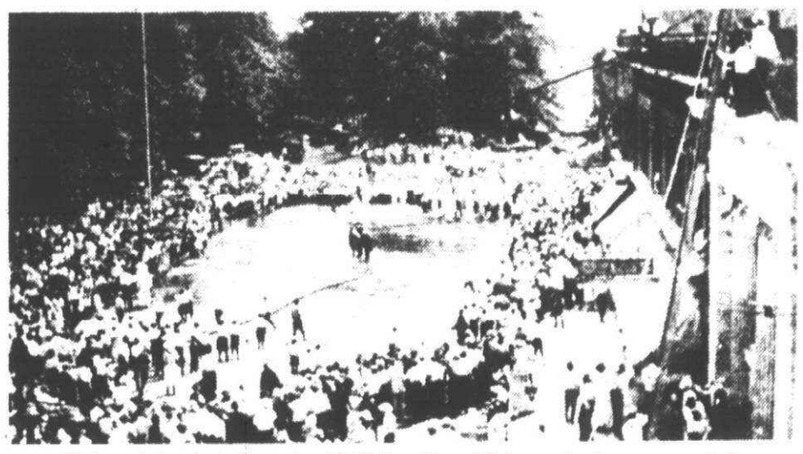
Mr. Plymouth notes local cost-of-living

PLYMOUTH—PAST AND PRESENT by Sam Hudson



This picture, taken in 1919 by Roy Fisher, is the annual firefighter's water battle. Seen at right is the Plymouth United Savings Bank, still uncompleted. The bank moved into new quarters in 1920 and the building is now occupied by National Bank of Detroit. (Reprinted with permission from "Plymouth Past and Present.")

(Part Two)

Mr. Plymouth continues his reading of the May 2, 1919, Plymouth Mail.

He learns from the ads that Nissley's in Ypsilanti is featuring "Gingham Week," Pinckney's Pharmacy has cream and hard mixture candy at 20 cents a pound, and the use of Goshen Lightning Rods will reduce insurance costs. The Nash Six Touring Car, with valve-in-head motor, is on sale at G.R. Crumbie's for $1,490. Beyer Motor Sales is offering the Ford Touring Car for only $525.

The Plymouth Milling Company urges farmers to bring in their wheat. Mr. Plymouth wonders whether the farmers who mortgaged their farms to buy more land to meet the food demands of the U.S. and allied armies, will be able to meet their payments now that the war is over and demand has dropped.

Plymouth Elevator Company is in the market for wool and offers to pay 50 cents a pound for it. The firm also offers to sell soft coal for $7.50 a ton, and stove hard coal for $11.75 a ton.

JOHN L. GALE, whose general store is at the corner of Main and Penniman, where the bank will later build, reports that he has a new stock of wallpaper every week. He urges local residents to "bring in your eggs and buy wallpaper."

C.G. Draper, local jeweler and optometrist, has some new novels in stock, including Mary Roberts Rinehart's "Amazing Interlude," Zane Grey's "Desert of Wheat," and Edgar Rice Burrough's "Tarzan."

Roy R. Parrott, the real estate man whose office is on Main Street between Penniman and Gravel Avenue (Fralick), has a seven-room house on a 70 x 150 foot lot on East Ann Arbor Road for sale. It is only seven years old, and the asking price is $2,700.

Turning the page, Mr. Plymouth reads some saddening news. Richard Wolff, the three-year old son of Earl Wolff, has passed away, a victim of diptheria. Two other children in the family are afflicted with the same disease but are getting better. Mr. Plymouth's mind goes back to the fall of 1917-18 when so many died as a result of the epidemic of Spanish influenza which swept the nation.

WORLD WAR I has just ended and Plymouth boys are returning from overseas. The Mail mentions the names of those who have arrived home, and carries letters from those still abroad. Lt. Karl P. Miller, at Camp Taylor in Louisville, expects to be discharged in mid-May after service in France. James Hance, who served overseas with the 85th Division, has been honorably discharged. Floyd Eckles, a member of the 64th Infantry, 7th Division, has returned home and is in Ford Hospital. Eckles is still suffering from the effects of being gassed in France.

Harold Douglas, who has just returned, and is in the U.S. Hospital at Hoboken, N.J., writes his mother that the time is near when he will enter civilian life once more. "I know it is going to be very strange to me for a while," he writes. "I've had about a year and a half of Army life, and I think I have changed somewhat in that time. I feel different than I did before I went away."

Donald Ryder writes his parents that he got a three-day pass to see Paris in April. He saw Notre Dame, the University of Paris where President Wilson took his degree, and a show at the Paris Opera House. "Along the boulevards," he writes, "are thousands of cannons which were captured from the Germans." Don is impressed with the subway in Paris which he compares favorably with that in New York.

Lee R. Sackett, who was later to become Chief of Police in Plymouth, writes to his parents from a U.S. Army base in Russia. He expects to leave for home in June. The temperature in northern Russia has been as low as 45 degrees below zero, but "the Russkies say this has been a very mild winter." The U.S. soldiers are living in boxcars. "Eggs cost about four rubles or 40 cents each, unless you make love to some Russkie's daughter and tell her that you will marry her; then she might let you have them for one ruble."

THE WOMAN'S LITERARY Club and the Village have planted several elm trees in front of the school building in memory of Plymouth youth killed in the war.

A Detroit firm offers to buy or sell Liberty Bonds at New York Stock Exchange prices. Mr. Plymouth remembers how it was during the peak of the campaign to sell Liberty Bonds. Those who failed to buy the bonds ran the risk of having their homes smeared with yellow paint.

Plymouth is still far from its quota in subscriptions in the Victory Liberty Loan drive which the government began after the Armistice. Only $55,650 of the goal of $155,800 has been subscribed.

Supper is ready! Mr. Plymouth folds his Plymouth Mail and walks into the house. His step isn't as light as it was when he arrived home. Reading the paper has dampened his spirits.

It has reminded him of the nation's postwar problems: the soaring prices; the dilemma of the heavily-mortgaged farmers; the question of whether the economy will be able to assimilate the returning soldiers; the continued spector of diphtheria.

He sighs. Life was better in the old days when he was a boy.

Plymouth Hilton schedules opening

Doors of the Plymouth Hilton Inn, located at 14707 Northville Road just south of Five Mile, will open to the public on Nov. 1.

The Park Restaurant, located inside the 195-room, five-story hotel, will begin serving breakfast, lunch and dinner on Nov. 1 and remain open from 7 a.m. to 10 p.m. An adjacent facility, the Jolly Miller Restaurant and Supper Club, is expected to open in mid-November.

The Plymouth Hilton Inn, owned by the Deane Baker Co., will offer convention, group meeting and banquet facilities for up to 1,000 persons, when construction work is complete. The hotel, located in a park-like setting on a seven-acre site, provides more than 500 spaces for guest parking.

Construction of the Plymouth Hilton Inn began one year ago, when Deane Baker purchased the former Thunderbird Inn from the Investors Diversifed Mortgage Corp.

PLYMOUTH SKI BIRDS

Ski season is approaching and you'll need a ski club to fully enjoy your sport. If you, or your family, are beginners or better, there are many great hours of skiing ahead. We will be skiing Thursday nights and other nights if there is an interest. We're going on 3 ski-weekends: to Boyne Highlands in Jan., in the New York area in Feb., and to Sugar Loaf in March. We can also get in on a trip to Snowmass Colorado February 17-24. If interested, or curious please come to the November 3rd meeting at 7:30 in the Cultural Center. If you would like more information, call: Linda Leavenworth at 453-7654 or the Recreation Office, 455-6620. See you on the slopes.

LOSE THE WEIGHT YOU HATE

New clinical tests completed at a major university hospital prove that the ODRINEX Plan will help you lose excess weight quickly.

ODRINEX contains an amazing hunger tamer that suppresses the appetite. Enjoy three good meals a day as the tiny ODRINEX tablet helps you eat less without being hungry. With fewer calories, your weight goes down. Safe taken as directed - will not make you nervous.

Look better, feel better as you start slimming down today with ODRINEX. Satisfaction guaranteed or money back.

FOR HOMEOWNERS

You won't find this little booklet on the best seller list—Consumers Power Company is giving it away.

It's all about the efficient use of the energy you pay for. How to operate your heating and cooling equipment, kitchen appliances, and home entertainment devices to save energy and money.

These operating tips are not dramatic ideas and they won't lead to spectacular savings on your Consumers Power service bill. But they will help you to conserve energy and help hold household operating costs down. And, in some instances, may add to the life of your appliances.

Men to man stoves at All Saints

One of the features of the Crafts Boutique to be sponsored Nov. 7 and 8 in All Saints Lutheran Church, Livonia, by the Ladies Parish Service Guild will be refreshments prepared by men.

Knowing their wives would be busy exhibiting and selling crafts at the boutique, the men of the All Saints Softball Team volunteered to relieve them of their culinary chores.

Coffee and hot homemade donuts are on the menu Friday from 6-9 p.m. and a hot dog lunch will be available on Saturday.

Many of the articles to be sold were created in crafts workshops held all during the summer months in the church.

The boutique will feature a needle nook full of handmade purses and puppets, a straw flower hut with baskets and vases of straw flower arrangements and a plaque place where figures of children come alive on papier tole.

The dollar and under store holds items of special interest to children, while the plant place will contain house plants, macrame plant holders and sand paintings. Homemade preserves and baked goods will turn up in the country store.

Customers will find many items to help with Christmas decor in the Christmas corner. These range from pine cone wreaths to personalized Christmas stockings.

Vi Yee is chairman of the event. The church is at Joy and Newburgh.

Church news

The Observer & Eccentric will be glad to publish news of your church and its activities. Information should be directed to Margaret Miller, church editor, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, 48150.

Information should be received Monday for publication in the Thursday church section. There is no such section in the Monday edition.

All news should be submitted for publication prior to the event or service involved.

New student

Mrs. Rita June Jones of McEwen, Tenn., daughter of Mrs. Hester Mae Fuqua of Livonia, has been accepted as a first year student at David Lipscomb College in Nashville.

Lipscomb is a senior liberal arts college which requires attendance of one Bible class every school day.

Methodist women plan Fellowship Day in Livonia

The first fellowship meeting aimed at bringing in women from all Methodist denominations will be held Sunday, Nov. 2, in St. Matthew United Methodist Church, 30900 W. Six Mile, Livonia.

The gathering is being hosted by the United Methodist Women of the greater Detroit metropolitan area and is bringing in members of African Methodist Episcopal, Christian Methodist and AME Zion churches.

Evelyn Griffith of Grosse Pointe is general chairman for the 3 p.m. service of worship and fellowship, and Clara Walker, organist of Newburg United Methodist Church and president of the Detroit Conference chapter of the Fellowship of United Methodist Musicians, is in charge of the music.

Speakers for the occasion will be Jean Sikkenga of Ferndale, mission coordinator for Christian global concerns in the United Methodist Church, and Evelyn Strong, Detroit public schools administrator and chairperson of the women's division of UMC global ministries.

Special music will include African folk songs by Ann Thompson of Detroit, harp selections played by Mrs. Walker, teaching of Japanese and German folk songs by Mrs. Walker and JoAnn Visotsky of Livonia and two choral numbers by an ensemble from the Newburg UMC choir.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH OF LIVONIA, 17725 Inkster, will show a half-hour color film about the famous "Miracle at Pentecost" painting Sunday, Nov. 2 at 7 p.m. The film is called "Making of a Masterpiece."

ST. PAUL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, 27475 Five Mile, Livonia, will hold a special congregational brunch Sunday, Nov. 2 at 10:45 a.m., following the first worship services.

After the brunch there will be an audio-visual presentation which will depict work of the church locally and world-wide. It will blend the history of the 25-year-old parish with its present mission endeavors.

BETHEL BAPTIST TEMPLE, 29475 W. Six Mile, Livonia, will hold a revival Wednesday through Sunday, Nov. 5-8 at 7:30 p.m. nightly. Leading the event will be Dr. William Pennell, pastor of the Rochester Hills Baptist Church, Rochester. Babysitting will be provided for pre-school children.

FAITH LUTHERAN CHURCH, 30000 Five Mile, Livonia, invites members of all Livonia Lutheran churches to join in a celebration of their common Lutheran heritage in the church Sunday, Nov. 2 at 7:30 p.m.

The Rev. Stanley Schneider, former professor at Capital Seminary in Columbus, Ohio, will speak.

Capt. MacDonald heads SA center

Salvation Army Capt. John C. MacDonald, former special education teacher in the Garden City School District and counselor for potential high school dropouts in the Livonia district has a new Salvation Army post.

He has been appointed director of the Harbor Light Center, a Salvation Army facility for treatment of substance abusers in the tri-county area.

Capt. MacDonald has served since 1971 as assistant director of the center, 3611 Cass, Detroit.

Under his direction, a staff of trained professionals and para-professionals provides comprehensive treatment on an in-patient and out-patient basis for men and women working to overcome alcoholism or drug abuse.

Last year, the center gave help to 375,397 people.

In addition to his Garden City and Livonia work, the new director has been a therapist in the Ann Arbor readjustment center and a psychiatric aide in the Ann Arbor Veterans Hospital.

As an officer of the Salvation Army, he has served in Mississippi

He earned a BA from the University of Michigan and an MA from Eastern Michigan University. Certified as a Michigan social worker, he is affiliated with the American Association of Mental Deficiencies and the Teachers of Mentally Handicapped.

CAPT. JOHN C. MACDONALD

Geneva ground-breaking

After three years of meeting in Plymouth's Pioneer Middle School, ground was broken Sunday, Oct. 26 for Geneva Presbyterian Church on Sheldon Road in Canton Township. The congregation met at the site after morning services, armed with shovels, spades and even trowels, and joined the Rev. Jeff Goldsmith (plaid jacket) in the ground-breaking ceremony. (Staff photo)

4 join seminary staff

The faculty of St. John Provincial Seminary in Plymouth has been increased with the addition of two full-time members, the Rev. Louis Anderson and the Rev. Jerome Walsh, and two part-time instructors, the Rev. Walter Markowicz and the Rev. W. Noel Brown.

Fr. Anderson comes to the Catholic school from the Grand Rapids Diocese to become director of the deacon internship program.

He has been religious education director in the Grand Rapids Diocese and has a master's degree in religious education from Aquinas College as well as being a graduate of Catholic University.

His goal is to acquaint himself with the Detroit Archdiocese deacon program and to maintain its strong points.

Fr. Walsh, a graduate of Catholic University, Louvain in Belgium and the Pontifical Biblical Institute, comes as scriptuer professor and will concentrate on the Old Testament. He has served three years as pastor of St. Ambrose church in the Detroit Archdiocese.

Fr. Markowicz has done extensive work with the Wayne State University medical school in the area of medical ethics and will teach a course on moral theology.

Rev. Brown, chaplain at the University Hospital in Ann Arbor, will teach a course on death and dying.

Poles are honored in sculpture exhibit

An exhibit of stainless steel sculptures of prominent native and American-born Poles will inaugurate the bicentennial year celebrations by the Orchard Lake Schools.

The exhibit will open Sunday, Nov. 2, and run through November and December in the Galeria, the fine arts gallery of SS. Cyril and Methodius Seminary, St. Mary's College, and St. Mary's Preparatory, the three academic institutions which compromise the Schools at Orchard Lake and Commerce Roads, six miles west of Pontiac.

The Galeria will be open to the public daily from 1 to 5 p.m. There is no admission charge for the exhibit.

Nov. 2 is also "Polish Day" at Orchard Lake. The Mass will be celebrated in Polish at 1 p.m. in the Shrine-Chapel of Our Lady of Orchard Lake on the campus. In addition to the exhibit in the Galeria, the bookstore of the Center for Polish Studies and Culture will be open.

The exhibit will feature the works of Marian Owczarski, 43, the artist-in-residence of the Orchard Lake Schools since 1972. The Polish sculptor's success with stainless steel as a medium is probably unsurpassed in the last decade. He has exhibited his work in 35 major cities in 11 countries on two continents.

"Everywhere in the world," said Owczarski, "steel is a sign of modernization, a sign of the future."

Currently, in a series of traveling exhibitions in Canada, Owczarski is exhibiting stainless steel sculptures of that country's line of prime ministers.

For the Orchard Lake bicentennial exhibit, Owczarski has selected 15 Poles whose wide range of contributions are significant not only to America, but also to the rest of the world. His sculptures will include:

Rev. Joseph Dabrowski, the founder of the Orchard Lake Schools and of the Order of Felician Nuns in America;

Joseph Conrad (Korzeniowski), a native Pole who became the master of the English novel. His works include "Lord Jim," "Nostromo," "The Heart of Darkness," and "Victory;"

Madame Marie Curie-Sklodowska, who with her husband discovered radium and polonium, setting the base for research in nuclear physics and chemistry. She and her husband shared the Nobel Prize for physics in 1903; in 1911, she received the Prize for chemistry;

Casimir Funk, a biochemist credited with discovering life-giving substances for which he coined the word "vitamin" to describe them;

This bust in stainless steel of Stanislaw Wyspianski, a renown Polish dramatist-artist-musician, is one of 15 that will be exhibited by artist Marian Owczarski during November and December at the Orchard Lake Schools.

Mikolaj Kopernik, generally considered the father of modern astronomy for his monumental discovery that the earth and other planets revolve around the sun;

Thaddeus Kosciuszko, a military hero both in Poland and in America. He distinguished himself brilliantly in the American Revolution. He designed and directed the building of West Point;

'Dog Day Afternoon'

Robbers steal only trouble

By CAROL HASKIN

ON FILM

Bank robbers never go to the movies. If they did they would choose another occupation. As every moviegoer knows, the cops always win. It may take hours, it may take years, but the robber always gets it in the end.

The thesis is suppoprted once again in Sidney Lumet's "Dog Day Afternoon," the screen version of a Brooklyn heist that kept New York City television viewers spellbound for one August day in 1972.

The perpetrators of the deed were a mentally-sluggish ex-con named Sal, and Sonny, a harried ex-Vietnam veteran trying to support two wives—one of each sex.

Despite the fact that Sonny, the brains behind the operation, was a former bank employe, the operation was plagued by foulups from the start. Sonny scheduled the robbery for closing time and found most of the money had been sent to a central bank.

WHEN ALL the hostages were finally herded into the vault and the registry burned, getaway was impeded by a legion of NYPD officers surrounding the bank.

In "Dog Day Afternoon," Director Lumet has taken an event with limited action and an even more limited setting and has made a suspenseful tragi-comedy. He uses humor to increase tension in the potentially explosive situation that never quite explodes but instead ends with a dull misfire. As in his 1974 hit, "Murder on the Orient Express," Lumet has every aspect of the film under control in a well-oiled piece of cinema artistry.

Al Pacino, who worked with Lumet in "Serpico," is the soft-hearted Sonny who jeopardizes his escape by letting the tellers visit the ladies room before being caged in the vault. Holed up the bank surrounded by police for eight hours, Sonny insists on personally paying for the pizzas ordered for the hostages.

Pacino's Sonny has the darting eyes and quick wits of a caged animal, yet succumbs to the drug of his own instant fame. He is a street hero, star of the six o'clock news. His instant status transforms him from a quaking bumbler to a confident man-in-charge. This mistaken confidence plays into the hands of police and the FBI.

SONNY GETS more trouble than support from his partner Sal (John Cazale), a somber, smoldering gunman who, when asked in which foreign country he would like to take asylum, replies "Wyoming."

If Sal gives Sonny headaches, they are nothing compared to the ones he gets from his two wives, Angie (Susan Peretz) and Leon (Chris Sarandon). It is for the love of the self-indulgent Leon that the robbery is committed in the first place—to get him money for his dreamed-of sex change operation.

The only people really on Sonnny's side are his hostages, led by bank manager Sully Boyar and head teller Penny Allen. When the street audience turns hostile at the news of Sonny's bisexuality, the bank personnel continue to stick by him.

As a piece of recent social history, "Dog Day Afternoon" touches on such touches on such topics as police brutality, homosexuality, hijacking and media manipulation. Lumet draws no conclusions, satisfying himself with depicting a series of bizarre events through the point of view of the characters involved.

AS A PIECE of entertainment, "Dog Day Afternoon" is exciting, engaging and bitterly funny.

'Macbeth' star

David Regal stars as Macbeth in the University of Detroit's performing arts center's production which opens Oct. 31. Performances are on the Marygrove College campus, McNichols at Wyoming.

2nd production of season

MOT's 'La Boheme' opens Nov. 7

Michigan Opera Theatre (MOT) will present its second production of the 1975-76 season, Giacomo Puccini's "La Boheme," opening Nov. 7 at Music Hall Center for the Performing Arts.

Performance dates and times are Friday, Nov. 7 at 8:30 p.m.; Sunday, Nov. 9 at 6:30 p.m.; Wednesday, Nov. 12 at 1:30 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, Nov. 14 and 15 at 8:30 p.m.

Tickets for "La Boheme" may be purchased at the Music Hall box office, 350 Madison Avenue in downtown Detroit, or at any Hudson's or Grinnells' store. BankAmericard and Mastercharge purchases may be made by calling the box office.

David DiChiera, general director of the company said, "We are especially pleased to be introducing to Detroiters the exciting talents of three performers, Marianna Christos, Sheri Greenawald and Jerold Norman, destined for major operatic careers. Not only are they vocally accomplished, but also they are attractive singing actors who will provide a totally believable evening of lyric theater."

Miss Christos, who sings the role of Mimi, is a recent Metropolitan Opera auditions winner who has performed the past two summers at the famed Santa Fe Opera in New Mexico. She comes to Detroit from the New York City Opera where she made her debut as Liu in Puccini's "Turandot."

Miss Greenawald, MOT's Musetta, also a Metropolitan Opera Auditions winner, has had extensive experience performing in New York, and with

MARIANNA CHRISTOS

Texas Opera Theater, and the Omaha Opera Company. Following Detroit, she debuts with the Houston Grand Opera.

Norman, who sings the role of Rodolfo, has performed with Cincinnati Opera, Canadian Opera, and will do his first Don Jose ("Carmen") in Columbus this December, and his first Des Grieux ("Manon") for the Charlotte Opera in the spring.

The role of Marcello will be performed by New Yorker Allan Glassman. Glassman recently sang Figaro in MOT's Opera in Residence program in eight Michigan cities.

Music Director and conductor of "La Boheme" will be Joseph DeRugeriis of Philadelphia. DeRugeriis has conducted extensively both in Italy and the U.S., and has assisted such operatic luminaries as Gian Carlo Menotti, Thomas Schippers, Christopher Keene, and Franco Zeffirelli.

Directing the production will be New Yorker Francis Rizzo, who is also preparing a new English translation of "La Boheme" for MOT. Rizzo directed MOT's acclaimed 1974 production of "Boris Godunov," and is currently artistic administrator of the Wolf Trap Foundation in Vienna, Va.

The role of Colline will be sung by New Yorker Saverio Barbieri, who also performed Pimen in last year's "Boris Godunov."

Detroiters in the cast include Robert Gray (Schaunard), Jack Morris (Benoit and Alcindoro), Gene Wabeke (Parpignol) and Garth Taylor (Customs guard).

The MOT Chorus will be under the direction of Dr. Raynold Allvin, acting chairman of Oakland University's music department.

Robards stars in O'Neill play at Power Center

The University of Michigan Professional Theatre Program (PTP) announces a pre-Kennedy Center production of Eugene O'Neill's "Long Day's Journey Into Night" starring Tony Award winner, Jason Robards, in the role of the father. The play will be staged in the Power Center for the Performing Arts, Dec. 6-13.

Robards first appeared in this O'Neill play on Broadway, as the son, earning a New York Drama Critic's Award for his performance. Later he was cast with Ralph Richardson and Katherine Hepburn in a movie version of this same play.

Robards' other major Broadway credits include roles in production of "A Thousand Clowns," "The Devils," "Stalag 17," "The Chase," and "Toys In The Attic." In 1971 he appeared in the Kennedy Center's inaugural production of "The Country Girl," which subsequently won him the year's best actor title in the Variety Poll.

He also won a Tony for his role in "The Disenchanted" and earned the New York Drama Critic's Award for "Hughie." Robards helped launch the New York Lincoln Center Repertory Company's first season in productions of Miller's "After the Fall" and Behrman's "But for Whom Charlie," and has appeared in roles at the Stratford Shakespeare Festival. He was most recently seen on Broadway in the award-winning O'Neill drama, "A Moon For the Misbegotten."

Brought to prominence as Hickey in "The Iceman Cometh," Robards has repeated that role for television.

This production is presented as part of the Kennedy Center-Xerox Corporation American Bicentennial Theatre Series, produced by Roger L. Stevens and Richmond Crinkley. Tickets are available through the PTP Ticket Office in the Mendelssohn Theatre lobby, Monday-Friday, 10 a.m. - 1 p.m. and 2-5 p.m. Special group tickets are available by contacting Jean Galan. Tickets may also be obtained through local J.L. Hudson stores.

Franklin-Churchill tiff heads grid slate

High School football fanatics will have the opportunity to see plenty of grid action on this next to last weekend of the season.

Not only are there two local Friday afternoon games to choose from, there are three nearby Friday night tilts, one Saturday night game and one Sunday afternoon contest.

Headlining Friday's action is the Franklin-Churchill clash which has suddenly become one of the greatest attractions of the season. The two teams took separate routes to their identical 6-1 marks.

Franklin was heralded from the season's start as the team to beat for the Northwest Suburban League title and, sure enough, the Pats wrapped up their record-setting third consecutive conference crown last Saturday in a real head-knocker.

Churchill seemed to creep up on everybody, silently slipping almost unnoticed past every opponent on the strength of its defense until, before you knew it, the team was playing Farmington Harrison for the Western Six League title.

Well, last week the Chargers 'not-so-silently' destroyed the Hawks, 23-10, for coach Ken Kaestner's second title. The other one came in 1972.

Armand Vigna, first-year head coach at Franklin, led the jolly giants of Joy Road to a championship in his "rookie" year. He's been an assistant for 10 years, working with George Lovich and Jerry Cullin.

It's the Northwest Suburban champ against the Western Six king, and it should be a beauty.

Other top games have tough Thurston at Livonia Stevenson, and Trenton, a possible state playoff team, visiting an improving Bentley squad. Canton hosts Garden City East and Glenn entertains Berkley Friday while St. Agatha hosts state-ranked Wyandotte Mt. Carmel on Saturday and Bishop Borgess is home to Pontiac Catholic Sunday afternoon.

FRIDAY, OCT. 31

Franklin at Churchill, 3:15 p.m.

Franklin coach, Armand Vigna, says this game is for the "bragging rights" of south Livonia for the next year. Churchill's Ken Kaestner, a strong candidate for coach of the year honors, and the Patriots will both be ready. Winner is a toss-up but outcome could be decided by best defense forcing a break.

Thurston at Stevenson, 3:30 p.m.

Thurston is coming on strong after a slow start and Stevenson is just the reverse of Thurston's 2-5 record. Jack Reardon's Spartans will be ready, but it's time for Don Riehl's Eagles to win a big one.

GC West at Schafer, 3:30 p.m.

This game was moved from a night to an afternoon affair. Friday is trick-or-treat day, and since Schafer hasn't won a game all year, that's a treat for West. It should help the Tigers turn the trick.

Trenton at Bentley, 8 p.m.

Trenton is second behind Kalamazoo Central in battle for Region III honors for state Class A playoffs, and wouldn't it be something if Glen Goode's team upset the powerful Trojans? Bulldogs chewed up Dearborn last week but QB Greg Castignola and Co. won't let Bulldogs out of the doghouse.

Berkley at John Glenn, 8 p.m.

Coach Lloyd Carr has his Rockets flying high and they could finish with 8-1 record this year with wins over Berkley and arch-rival Wayne Memorial. They'll do it, too.

East at Canton, 8 p.m.

QB Wally Krol's injury hurt Panthers, but junior Bob Davis looks good so far. Canton comes off 33-14 loss to Waterford Mott. East in a close one.

Salem at Belleville, 8 p.m.

Belleville started fast but has slowed down of late. Salem is picking up steam. Rocks will fall—right on top of Tigers for Salem win.

Redford Union at Edsel Ford, 8 p.m.

Coach Bob Atkins of RU is looking for his first win. Will he find it in the "pumpkin patch" in Dearborn? Only if Charley Brown plays quarterback for the Thunderbirds.

SATURDAY, NOV. 1, 7:30 p.m.

Wyandotte Mt. Carmel at St. Agatha, 7:30 p.m.

Coach Harvey Heitman's Aggies host Mt. Carmel at Hilbert Junior High school and are primed for this Halloween meeting. Some say Aggies don't have "ghost" of a chance, but they sure have the "spirit." QB Brian Higgins is out with broken hand and end Paul Churches may miss also. Looks like Mt. Carmel.

Pontiac Catholic at Bishop Borgess, 2:30 p.m.

Spartans' season finale at Thurston High School should be a happy one for coach Fred Mushinski and his team.

On a new kick

Bill Kelley, former Westland-John Glenn football star, has extended his Wayne State University conseutive conversion string to 17 at Northeast Missouri before a miss on his fourth kick of the day. He came back to add a pair of converts and start a new string. Coupled with outstanding kickoff coverage by the speciality teams, WSU has shut off three top kickoff return artists this season.

Kelley's 19 extra points this season rate a third-place tie on the all-time, single season list and his current 22 kick-scoring points rank third best in a season. Career-wise, his 21 extra points rate sixth and the 24 kick-scoring points rate seventh.

Thurston falls, 10-3

Franklin wins 3rd title in row

By JIM BRADLEY

Franklin battled to its third straight outright Northwest Suburban Football League title Saturday afternoon, 10-3, against a rugged Thurston squad which gave the Patriots the battle of their lives before losing.

In fact, Gary Abundis of Thurston had a 47-yard touchdown scamper called back because of a penalty, or the game might have had a different outcome.

But Armand Vigna has a championship in his first year as head coach after being assistant mentor for 10 years. The third consecutive outright NSL football crown has never been accomplished before.

"We are just delighted to take the championship in such a tough league as the Northwest Suburban League," exclaimed a happy Vigna after his charges battled furiously to hold a charged-up Eagle squad from tying the score in the third quarter.

"It was one of the finest high school games I've seen," appraised Thurston coach Don Riehl, "and one of the hardest-hitting battles you could expect. I'm as proud as I can be of my kids and if Gary's long touchdown run hadn't been called back, there's no telling what would have happened."

Thurston, which began the season with high hopes for a good year, showed Franklin it meant business when the Eagles battled the Patriots on even terms throughout the entire game. Franklin totaled 208 yards to Thurston's 201 but the Eagles had a 11-10 first down advantage.

Thurston and Franklin battled back and forth until the Eagles got the ball on the visitors' 47-yard line. Quarterback Roy Piligian, who completed eight of 23 passes for 138 yards against a good Patriot secondary, fired a 39-yard pass to John Simons. The pass was batted and grappled for by two Franklin defenders, but Simons pulled the pigskin to his chest for a great catch on Franklin's six yard line.

Three plays lost two yards before coach Riehl called on tackle John Miller and the heavily taped player responded with a 26-yard field goal and a 3-0 Thurston lead after one quarter.

On Thurston's first drive of the second quarter, linebacker Chuck Hench intercepted a Piligian pass on Thurston's 39 and returned it to the 29. Seven plays later found the ball on Thurston's eight with a first down. However, a five-yard penalty against the Eagles gave the Patriots first-and-goal from the four.

But it was here that giant tackles Bob Zichichi, 243 pounds and Richard Graustein, 250 pounds, smashed back Jim Casey twice and Tim Hollandsworth once to force Franklin to settle for Sam Williams' 20-yard tying field goal with 7:46 left in the half.

The large homecoming crowd cheered the Eagles for their fine defensive work all day, and especially on that series.

Jim Casey, who gained 101 yards in 12 carries, got Franklin's game-winner on his team's next possession. Thurston took the kick and moved from its own 35 to Franklin's 35 where Hollandsworth pilfered a pass, then fumbled it, but the Patriots recovered the bouncing ball.

Casey started on a right end sweep, cut back in and raced 65 yards with the Eagles in hot pursuit. The versatile tailback outran everyone for the TD and Williams again converted for the final 10-3 score.

Neither team scored in the second half which was a brusing, punishing brand of football. Abundis broke loose in the third quarter for a 47-yard scoring romp, but a holding penalty nullified the tieing TD and Thurston could only manage eight yards rushing in the final quarter.

"We're very happy to win it," repeated Vigna, "and Thurston has a whale of a football team. Vigna agreed with Riehl that the game was as hard hitting as any this year. He also singled out two-way tackles Bob Picard and Bob Suarez for fine games along with Larry Urben, Chuck Hench, Casey, Hollandsworth and runner Tom Smith.

Thurston's Riehl was as happy as a coach could be for as team that had played its best in a losing cause. "Whenever Franklin and Thurston get togehter, it's a real head-knocker," Riehl said. "It could have gone either way and I thought it was one of the finest played high school football games I've ever been connected with. And the kids not only hit hard on both sides, but were good sports as well."

Riehl praised Brian Garber highly, adding: "It was his finest game of the year. Our whole defensive team, which has only given up points in two of our last 16 quarters was great. Gary Abundis is as fine as any back around and the large crowd made the day a very satisfying one. It's too bad both teams couldn't have won."

East girls take cage squeaker

Two of the area's stronger girls basketball teams met Tuesday night, and Garden City East pulled out a last-second 34-33 victory from Livonia Stevenson to raise its record to 11-1.

Jan Moore's squad jumped to a 14-6 first quarter lead and held a 22-18 halftime advantage. Stevenson, mainly on Jeri Isanhart's game-high 18 points, rallied to tie the game 26-all after three periods.

The lead changed hands four times in the final stanza, but with Stevenson leading, 32-30, with 1:30 left, the Panthers canned two key field goals for a 34-32 margin. A Stevenson girl was fouled with two seconds left and made the first but missed the second as East won it, 34-33.

EAST HAD earlier defeated the Spartans in the latter's court, 38-31, when Isanhart was out with appendicitis. Jeannette Fisher again paced the Panthers with 12 points, most of them coming on her outside one-handers. Stevenson, whose season mark dropped to 9-3, was led by floor captain, guard Brenda Tipoton, who directed the Spartan attack and also grabbed eight rebounds.

Last week East squeaked by Lutheran West, 41-39, as Jeanette Fisher led the Panthers with 14 points. Julie Burton added 10, Deb O'Neill, eight and Debbie Thome, seven, as East led Lutheran at the quarter breaks by scores of 10-4, 24-10 and 35-26.

Laurie Roschke led West with eight points as the Detroit team lost its first game.

East has now won 10 straight games after a 44-42 overtime loss to Plymouth Salem in its first game. The East JV team beat Lutheran West, 17-11, behind Val Shilakes' eight points and edged Stevenson's JV, 36-34, Tuesday, handing the visitors their first loss in nine games.

THE STEVENSON varsity, coached by Liz Embree, went unbeaten last year and is 5-0 in the Inter-lakes league. In a three-game splurge, Stevenson defeated Milford Lakeland in overtime, 35-31, to stay perfect in the league. Then Jeri Isanhart burned the nets with 28 points in a 45-40 tripping of Churchill, and Brenda Tipton added seven points and seven rebounds.

The Spartans warmed up for East by trouncing Farmington, 51-27, as Dawn Klann netted 14.

Salem places eighth in cross-country

By BILL COLLINS

"Considering we had a relatively inexperienced team, I feel we had a fairly good season," commented coach Steve Rea at the conclusion of the Plymouth Salem cross country season.

Plymouth Salem's harriers wrapped up their fall schedule last Saturday morning in the state regionals. Salem placed eighth out of 20 teams competing at the Westland John Glenn regional, won by Livonia Churchill.

THE ROCKS best individual performance was turned in by sophomore Scott Kleam. Kleam came across the finish line in fourth place out of the 140 runners in the race.

His time was an impressive 15:58, just nine seconds off the three mile pace. He will be the only runner to represent Salem in the state meet at Grand Blanc Country Club this Saturday.

Co-captains Curt Judd and Walt White finished 19th and 20th respectively, both ran times of 16:27.

Other varsity runners scoring in the event were Jeff Econom in 91st place with a 17:41 posting, and senior Bill Sonnega dropping to 110th with a 18:13 time.

"We were always in the upper third of the larger invitional meets, which puts our team into perspective with other squads in our area," philosophized coach Rea.

PLYMOUTH CAME away a bit dissapointed with its showing at the Suburban Eight league meet. Salem finished sixth out of eight schools in the conference, with Dearborn earning the league title.

Coach Rea contrasted this year's finish with the one of a year ago: "Last fall we finished sixth and ran better than we expected, however, this year we ran worse than we expected and finished sixth. I feel the injury to Walt White hurt our chances greatly for a strong finish. If Walt would've been healthy, I'm sure we'd be in the top four."

Kleam was Salem's top runner with a time of 16:21, good for seventh place and a spot on the All-League team. Walt White, still ailing from a spiked toe, was the 15th finisher, while Curt Judd was 22nd.

WITH ANOTHER year behind them the Salem cross country team can look to next season with higher hopes and more experience.

"We'll have our top two runners back from this year and will have four more good runners besides," said coach Rea.

"Our biggest task to work on is to recruit more boys for the team, especially freshmen and sophomores. Anytime you have a group of young runners, by the time they have a couple years behind them, you'll have yourself a good team," said Rea.

Salem, earlier in the year, had 24 runners on the squad but saw that number dwindle to 13 by the end of the year. This year's team was comprised of seniors Curt Judd, Bill Sonnega, and Bill Collins. Juniors Walt White, Al Price and Bill Otto. The sophomore contingent was made up of Brad Gigliotti, Dan Lybarger, Jerry St. Pierre and Scott Kleam. Freshmen were Jeff Econom and Bill Kennedy. Rob Bleyerveld was the team's only exchange student. Bleyerveld is a native of the Netherlands.

Salem beats Belleville, swimmers routs Livonia

By ANNE SULLIVAN
Special Writer

The Plymouth Salem High girls swim team won two successive victories last week, defeating Belleville 53-30 and routing Livonia Franklin 119-53.

Against Belleville, the Salem swimmers took nine firsts and three second places.

THE FIRSTS for Salem were:
200-yard medley relay team of Jill McCann, Sue Stanwood, Marion Stanwood, Tamie Crespo at 2:09.1;

400 freestyle relay team of Marion and Sue Stanwood, Breen and Crespo first at 4:19.8.

Pat Marks took second in the 200 freestyle at 2:31.

The Salem swimmers meet Redford Union today (Thursday) at home beginning at 7 p.m. and then begin the tournaments with the John Glenn Invitational Nov. 1 at 10 a.m. and the Suburban Eight league meets Nov. 5, 6.

Canton swimmers lose to Churchill Harrison

By ANNE SULLIVAN

The Plymouth Canton girls swim team lost two meets last weekend, first to Farmington Harrison 94-75 and then getting routed by Livonia Churchill 107-62.

Against a tough Churchill squad, though, the Chiefs set two varsity records, took two firsts and five seconds.

THE 200-YARD relay team of Jane Anderson, Cindy Shelansky, Lori Hogan and Tina Dewalt took first and set a varsity record at 2:17.9.

Anderson took second and set the other Canton record in the 50-yard freestyle at 28.2.

The other first for Canton was Shelansky at 2:34.8 in the 200 individual medley.

The seconds for the Chiefs were: 200 freestyle, Sue Victoratos, 2:52.8; 100 freestyle, Anderson, 1:06.9; 500 freestyle, Dewalt at 7:22.9; and 100 backstroke, Shelansky at 1:10.5.

AGAINST HARRISON the Chiefs set one varsity record, captured four firsts and eight seconds.

Hogan set the record and took first in the 200 freestyle at 2:33.

Other firsts for Canton were: 100 butterfly, Hogan, 1:16.8; 100 freestyle, Anderson, 1:07.6; 100 backstroke, Anderson, 1:20.

The seconds for the Chiefs were: 200 individual medley, Shelansky, 2:38.1; 50 freestyle, Dewalt, 29.1; 100 butterfly, Kay Spring, 1:25.2; 500 freestyle, Dewalt, 7:22.9; 100 breaststroke, Shelansky, 1:26.7; 400 freestyle relay team of Hogan, Sue McCourt, Wendy Gray and Dewalt at 4:41.5.

Gray took a second in diving with 126.9 points.

The squad will travel to Walled Lake Central today (Thursday) before entering the Johnn Glenn Invitational on Nov. 1 at 10 a.m. and the Western Six league meet Nov. 5, 6.

Lions nip Panthers, frosh win division

After the Lion freshmen and JVs won by scores of 18-0 and 22-8, the Panther varsity averted a sweep by blanking the Lions 21-0.

MOVING INTO a playoff berth, the Lion frosh tallied a TD in the first period on a 15-yard jaunt by Todd Beauchamp.

Defense was the key in the second quarter until, on the final play of the half, Mickey Madsen scampered 65 yards for another Lion TD. Beauchamp then put the icing on the cake with a fourth quarter score from 10 yards out.

Although the defense, led by Jeff Rightler, kept the Panthers in the game most of the way, the edge clearly belonged to the Lions who brought their regular season mark to 5-2.

NOT TO BE OUTDONE by their freshmen counterparts, the Lion JVs broke open a defensive struggle in the second half to roll to a 22-8 victory.

Winning their second game against three losses and two ties, the Blue and Silver relied upon their "Jaws" defenders to hold the Panthers in check until the offense could get untracked.

Tom Wennerberg paced the Lions with two TDs—a 28-yard run and a 90-yard pass interception return. Jeff Hubert and Bret Haarala collaborated for the other Lion score while Brian Cavagnini tallied for the Panthers on a 40-yard third period run. Starring for the Lions on defense were Michael Clayton, Mike Fillingworth and Bill Harris.

CLOSING OUT the day's activities, the Panther varsity struck in the first period for two TDs enroute to a 21-0 victory, their third shutout of the year.

Salem girls' cagers crush Belleville

By ROBIN NEIMAN
Special Writer

Plymouth Salem girls' basketball team sprang to a 23-5 first quarter lead, led at the half by 48-11, and wound up with a 76-42 victory over Belleville.

The whole bench aided in the win by making 32 of 82 field goal attempts for 39 per cent. Loree Jacobson fed the ball to the inside girls for seven assists while Peggy Moore grabbed eight rebounds.

Kathy Dillon made eight of 16 field goal attempts for 50 per cent and three of four foul shots to lead Salem with 19 points. Diane Goodrich added 14 and Cheri Leveille 10.

EARLIER in the week, the Rocks jumped to another big lead in the first half at 35-14 and went on to defeat Livonia Franklin 59-31.

Linda Agardy and Cindy Richards each pulled in five rebounds. Patrice Cunningham, a replacement for a starter, totaled 12 points while Carol Crissey, Dillon and Moore each added eight points.

Salem will host Trenton tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 p.m.

Salem JVs come back

By THOMAS ZAIBEK
Special Writer

Jim Thomas's 15-yard burst up the middle in the second quarter concluded a 60-yard Plymouth Salem drive which paved the way for the JVs fourth win against two losses.

Minutes later, John Lewelling scampered 13 yards for the Rock's second score. Both extra points were missed.

Allen Park Bulldogs came roaring back with a TD, a two point conversion, and a safety.

With four minutes left in the game, and the score 12-10, Allen Park fumbled a Salem punt. Bob Waite recovered on the Bulldogs 40-yard-line, but Salem couldn't move the ball.

With 30 seconds left, Waite intercepted a pass on the Allen Park 30-yard line and ran it back to the five. Three plays later, Thomas bucked up the middle and the Rocks eked out a 19-10 victory. Waite's conversion was good.

Mike Hassen, Waite, Bob Doherty, Bill Kral, Bill Jacoby, Brent Eckler and John Broderick played a great game.

The JVs meet Belleville today (Thursday) at home beginning at 4 p.m. and end the season with a home encounter against Bloomfield Hills Nov. 6 at 4 p.m.

Rightler paces Rock victory

By THOMAS ZAIBEK
Special Writer

The Plymouth Salem freshman football team won its fourth game against one loss recently by defeating Pierce 20-0.

It was mostly a defensive battle in the first quarter with no scoring.

In the second period, after a tremendous goal line stand on the Salem five-yard line, Salem marched 95 yards for a TD by Tim Rightler on an eight-yard run. A beautiful Sam Merrill to Rightler pass set up the score. Bill Bournias ran for the two-point conversion and the half ended at 8-0.

In the third period, Paul Dillon recovered a Pierce fumble on the Rock five-yard line. Against it was Rightler on a 52-yard romp to set up for his TD on the next play—a 25-yard run.

The scoring was completed by Jim LaRich on a 12-yard sweep.

Offensive linemen Steve Champion and Dave Blonda were standouts as were Will Donn and Jeff Bruner on defense.

The squad ended its season yesterday (Wednesday) against the Plymouth Canton ninth grade team.

In The Pocket

By W.W. EDGAR

Now that the American Bowling Congress has initiated a study on lane conditions throughout the country more and more bowlers are using this as an excuse when their scores take a drop. They immediately blame it on lane conditions—either too much oil or not enough.

Nary a word is said about the pins. Yet, it isn't very long ago that the complaints all centered on the pins. They were too short in some cases and in others they were claimed th be "dead" – that is, there was no life in them.

For a long time two of the older houses in Detroit produced high scores—the old Garden on Woodward Avenue and Wurm's on Gratiot Avenue. No one could understand why.

At the Garden it was claimed that the skylight brought more sunshine on the lanes and the pins acted differently. Irv Gies, the proprietor, just laughed. Later he explained that he buffed the lanes to a line about six feet in front of the head pin, "so a working ball had a chance to work." That was accepted.

At Wurm's it was a different story. After listening to the complaints one night Chuck Woods, the manager, laughingly asked, " Did you look to see where we keep our pins?" Then he pointed out that they were stored next to the boiler room and always kept warm. "They always have life in them" he explained, and the bowlers understood.

A FROWN from Lady Luck spoiled a great night for William Batterton in the Waterford Men's League at Plaza Bowl.

After bowling 10 strikes in a row and apparently headed for a perfect game he left up the No. 10 pin on his eleventh ball and had to settle for a 288. At that, he finished with an even 600.

JULIUS BRODY went on a scoring spree in the senior citizens league at Livonia Lanes. When he finished he was 164 pins over his average and the owner of a new mark for the league.

He roled games of 225, 195 and 215 for 635. It was the first 600 bowled in the league this season.

THE TEAM junior house league at Westland had something to shout about this week when Gil Goss paced the circuit with a 267 game in a 685 series Both counts were high for the year while the Kirk Studio team moved out in front with a record of 44 victories and 12 defeats.

On the ladies side Linda Johnson rolled a 231 game to beat Judd Whalen's former mark by a single pin. While she gained this slight margin Marcie Bashor took high series with a 226 in 585.

CHUCK MOORE now knows what it is like to bowl under pressure. Taking his regular turn in the University Men's League at Country Lanes he opened with games of 212 and 258. Then, with a great series in sight the roof caved in, and he slumped to a 145 for a 615.

Not only did he miss a big series but he had to yield scoring honors for the night to Herb Mussen, a 170 average bowler, who linked games of 220, 178 and 225 for a 623.

Profiting by a big opening game of 244 Bob Boss took top honors in the Bel-Aire Classic. Following his big count he added games of 217 and 211 for 672.

At that figure he had a four-pin edge on Bob Maynard who had a 244 in 668, while Dave Kaliszewski landed in third place with 660.

Behind this trio came Ed Murr with 654, Terrell Smith with 648 and Danny Feloni with 646 to round a night of good scoring.

Hal Jolley, one of the area's all stars, was embarrassed beyond words at Westland Bowl when one bad roll cost him the pace-making role in the senior house league.

It wasn't the ordinary bad pitch where you just miss the headpin. This was a gutter ball and forced him to accept the runner-up role with a 666, one pin back of Bob Garrett who linked 241,225 and 201 for 667.

KAY HARMON who carries only a 129 average, did the unusual in the Livonia Ladies Classic when she won two games and series with a grand total of 496-147—643.

After Dee Briggs won the opener with 195-37—232, Kay won the second with 170-49—219 and the third with 163-49—212.

TOM BRICELAND landed in the winners' circle at Garden Lanes with a 683 count that came on games of 242,222 and 219. Four others bettered double-century figures. Bill Montgomery fashioned a 658; Larry Brandt, a 628; Harold Vinoian, a 619; and Roger Thorpe trailed with a 612.

Darlene Varley, who carries a 150 overall, topped the Wednesday league with 540, and Marge Van Ness was high in the Tuesday circuit with a 583.

LOVING.
The warmth, the friendliness, the security of the old-fashioned neighborhood - it can't be created, but somehow we've captured it. Maybe it's because we're in Northville—two square miles of turn-of-the-century charm. Dotted with green hills and mill ponds, quaint shops and historic homes, tree-lined streets and friendly people. Or, maybe it's because we're blessed with gentle people right here.

Charge It!

Now it is even easier to advertise in the Observer & Eccentric Classified Section. Just dial our classified department, tell us what you would like to advertise and charge it, to your Bank Americard or Master Charge account.

Whenever you call, be sure to have your Bank Americard or Master Charge ready and give us the account number and expiration date directly from the card. Then the total cost of your ad will be billed directly to your monthly statement, simplifying your record keeping while earning money for you and your family.

You can benefit twice from this bonus by placing a Double Action Family Want Ad. Double Action ads run two consecutive issues for one low price of $6.00, with no changes or cancellations in the second ad. These 15 word ads save you $2.00 off the regular cost of placing an ad in two issues and are so easy to place now that you can charge them.

So arm yourself with a list of unwanted items and your favorite bank card and strike a blow against inflation by calling us today.

WOODVIEW

A PERFECT APARTMENT IN A PERFECT NATURAL SETTING...

Surrounded almost entirely by natural forest area, WOODVIEW is just 100 yards from the entrance to famous Holliday Park. Secluded and quiet are the two best words to describe WOODVIEW. When you desire the services of one of Michigan's prestige shopping areas, it's just a 10 minute walk to Hudson's Westland or the new Kroger Center. You'll choose to live in Westland, because of Edward Hines Park, many nearby golf courses, the schools, public and private, places of worship and the expressways. Like living in-town, but bathed in the beauty of natural woods and scenery. WOODVIEW apartments are new, stunning in appearance inside and out. The rooms are extra large. Here are some of the many wonderful features in wonderful WOODVIEW . . .

■ Fully Carpeted ■ Air Conditioned ■ Refrigerator/Freezer ■ Self/Cleaning Range & Oven ■ Automatic Dishwasher ■ Carports ■ Private Balconies and patios with landscaped terraces ■ Double sliding glass doors ■ Magnificent WOODVIEW CLUB, one of the largest and most complete with private swimming pool, locker rooms, saunas and meeting rooms ■ Nature trails and Hiking Paths ■ No doubt about it, wonderful WOODVIEW in Westland is a natural place for you . . . and your family!
